HERITAGE AT RISK

Heritage at Risk is our campaign to save listed buildings and important historic sites, places and landmarks from neglect or decay. At its heart is the Heritage at Risk Register, an online database containing details of each site known to be at risk. It is analysed and updated annually and this leaflet summarises the results. Heritage at Risk teams are now in each of our nine local offices, delivering national expertise locally.

The good news is that we are on target to save 25% (1,137) of the sites that were on the Register in 2010 by 2015. From St Barnabus Church in Birmingham to the Guillotine Lock on the Stratford Canal, this success is down to good partnerships with owners, developers, the Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF), Natural England, councils and local groups. It will be increasingly important to build on these partnerships to achieve the overall aim of reducing the number of sites on the Register. Tim Johnston, Planning and Conservation Director, West Midlands

Our partnership with Natural England is built on the importance of heritage to the value of the rural environment. In 2012 a combination of Natural England stewardship funding and specialist advice from English Heritage helped keep the number of scheduled monuments at risk in the West Midlands below the national average. 23 monuments, ranging from Roman villas to engine houses, have been removed from the Register and significant progress has been achieved at many more including Norbury medieval moated site in Staffordshire.

At 5.4%, the proportion of listed buildings on the Register in the West Midlands is slightly higher than the national average. Progress is, however, being made through English Heritage grant aid on a number of our priority sites. Repairs to the stonework at the Grand Hotel in Birmingham are now underway while the HLF has provided key additional funding for work which has started at the Birmingham Coffin Fitting Works, and Ditherington Flax Mill.

Our grants depend upon the real commitment of owners and local authorities for success. Without this commitment it would not have been possible to remove Rugeley Conservation Area from the Register, improve the condition of Longton Conservation Area in Stoke on Trent or progress repairs at 48 Mill Street in Bridgnorth. Additional help has come from increased activity by building preservation trusts (BPTs) helped by our investment in a Support Officer at the Architectural Heritage Fund. New BPTs have been formed for the Toll House, Stratford and Coventry Charterhouse, while an options appraisal has been completed for the former Moseley School of Art and a BPT is being explored for the Old Rectory, Whitchurch.

Over the last year, we have focussed our efforts by creating a local Heritage at Risk Team to work proactively with owners and our partners to tackle heritage at risk. The new team includes our Heritage at Risk Architects: Cristina Gardiner, Chris Miners and John Tieman who provide architectural advice for grant applications under our secular grants scheme, our Heritage at Risk Project Officers: Jenny Marriot and Imogen Sambrook, whose responsibilities include delivering Management Agreements for scheduled monuments and Kim Auston our Heritage at Risk Landscape Architect who specialises in registered parks and gardens. We have also funded three pilot projects on grade II listed buildings in the West Midlands. These have shown how important our local authority partners are in maintaining information on condition, in tapping the interest and enthusiasm of the voluntary sector and how English Heritage can help through the provision of specialist advice. The provision of technical advice like this is one of the ways we hope to address the challenge of declining resources in local authorities in the year ahead.

NORBURY MANOR MOATED SITE, STAFFORDSHIRE

The scheduled remains of the medieval moated manor house at Norbury in Staffordshire. The revetment walls retaining the moat platform were collapsing as the joints were forced open by invasive vegetation. The presence of Great Crested Newts and the need to retain their habitat has resulted in a two-phase repair strategy. The first phase of which has been completed with funding from a Natural England Higher Level Stewardship scheme. The monument will be removed from the Heritage at Risk Register on the completion of the second phase of repair.

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

- Nationally, 4.1% of grade I and II* listed buildings (excluding places of worship) are on the Register. In the West Midlands the percentage is 5.4% (103 buildings).
- 2 building or structure entries have been removed from the 2012 West Midlands Register because their futures have been secured, but 15 have been added.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

- Of the 169 listed places of worship assessed in the West Midlands, 41 are on the Register.
- 1 place of worship has been removed from the 2012 Register following repair work.

ARCHAEOLOGY

- 3,265 (16.5%) of England's 19,792 scheduled monuments are on the Register, of which 224 are in the West Midlands.
- 23 archaeology entries have been removed from the 2012 Register for positive reasons and 12 have been added.
- 36.2% of archaeology entries (94) on the West Midlands baseline 2009 Register have been removed for positive reasons, compared to the national figure of 21.1%.
- Nationally, damage from arable cultivation is the greatest risk factor, accounting for 43% of those on the Register. In the West Midlands the proportion is 39%.

PARKS AND GARDENS

- 100 (6.2%) of England's 1,624 registered parks and gardens are on the Register. In the West Midlands, 10 are on the Register, the same as last year.

BATTLEFIELDS

- Of the 43 registered battlefields in England, 6 are on the Register. None of the 6 registered battlefields in the West Midlands are on the Register.

WRECK SITES

- Of the 46 protected wreck sites around England's coast, 4 (off the South East coast) are on the Register.

CONSERVATION AREAS

- 8,179 of England's 9,839 conservation areas have been surveyed by local authorities. 510 (6.2%) are on the Register. Of the 667 conservation areas surveyed in the West Midlands, 54 (8.1%) are on the Register.
- 2 conservation areas have been removed from the 2012 West Midlands Register for positive reasons, but 2 have been added.

GRAND HOTEL, BIRMINGHAM

With the help of a grant from English Heritage, masons are working to chip away coatings of cement-based repairs and paints from the façade of the Grand Hotel in Birmingham. They are uncovering and repairing the original stonework and making the elevation stable to remove the building from risk.

ST BARNABAS CHURCH, ERDINGTON, BIRMINGHAM

BACKGROUND AND HISTORY:

The grade II listed St Barnabas church was designed by the Birmingham architect Thomas Rickman for the Church Commissioners in 1824. It is one of a number of large Victorian churches built in the 19th century when the villages around Birmingham expanded in response to the vibrant growth of the city.

Erdington now lies within the conurbation and has a mixed population facing considerable economic hardship; the church is the only landmark building.

In 2007 an arson attack destroyed the church roof and the interior. The building was added to the Heritage at Risk Register in 2011 when places of worship were first added to the Heritage at Risk Register. For six years the congregation worshipped in a series of temporary locations while plans were made, funds were raised and repairs were carried out. The fire had destroyed the roof entirely and damaged the walls so that they could no longer take the load of a new roof. After much debate, a scheme which conserved as much of the historic building as possible and replaced missing elements with contemporary architecture was approved.

IS IT AT RISK?

The church was put on English Heritage's Heritage at Risk Register in 2011. It has been removed in 2013 following full repair and re-opening.

WHAT'S THE CURRENT SITUATION?

The congregation was keen to extend the church to create a café and to improve access for the disabled so that the church could deliver a wider community function. They chose a contemporary architectural style for the extension to reflect this new role.

A curving, standing-seam metal roof now shelters the nave and swoops low over the café extension on the north side which has a glazed wall giving views across the churchyard to the High Street. The Harbour Café has become a popular meeting place and meeting rooms on the first and second floors at the west end of the nave are now used across the community.

The interior of the church, whilst conserving the surviving historic fabric, has also been finished in a contemporary style. The result is a building which stands out as an example of high quality new design in the otherwise tired streetscape of Erdington. For the parish, it symbolises their triumph over the arson attack and provides a symbol of hope in a challenged community. As Reverend Freda Evans, the Vicar of St Barnabas says, the rebuilding has been a resurrection in every sense of the word.

DESIGNATION

Definition

All the historic environment matters but there are some elements which warrant extra protection through the planning system. These are included in the National Heritage List for England (<http://list.english-heritage.org.uk>). Since 1882, when the first Act protecting ancient monuments and archaeological remains was passed, government has been developing the designation system. Listing emerged from the post-blitz 1940s Planning Acts, and is now applied to about half a million buildings ranging from palaces to street lamps. Almost 20,000 archaeological sites are scheduled, which introduces management controls. Some 1,624 designed landscapes are registered, as are 43 battlefields, and 46 wreck sites are protected.

English Heritage, as the government's expert adviser, is responsible for making recommendations – but it is still the Secretary of State at the Department for Culture Media and Sport who makes the decisions on whether an asset is designated. Understanding and appreciation develop constantly, which makes keeping the designation base up-to-date a never-ending challenge.

While responding to threat-driven cases, we increasingly seek to work strategically through the National Heritage Protection Plan. Recent developments have seen a greater striving for openness and transparency in the process of designating a site, and better communication of what makes something special. A change in legislation, part of the Enterprise and Regulatory Reform Act, makes this possible.

Alongside the nationally designated assets found on the National Heritage List for England are locally designated assets. Best known are conservation areas, but local authorities can also create lists of locally valued assets. Most archaeological sites of significance are not scheduled, but rely on local identification and management for their protection.

LISTED BUILDINGS

A listed building is a building (or structure) that has been designated as being of 'special architectural or historic interest'. The older and rarer a building is, the more likely it is to be listed. Buildings less than 30 years old are listed only if they are of outstanding quality and under threat. There are over 376,000 listing entries on the National Heritage List for England.

Listed buildings are graded I, II* and II. Grade I and II* are particularly important buildings of outstanding interest; together they amount to 8% of all listed buildings. The remaining 92% are of special interest and are listed grade II.

Entries on the statutory list of buildings of special architectural or historic interest may comprise a number of separate buildings. Formal residential terraces are the most obvious example. Entries on this Register reflect how buildings are grouped and recorded on the statutory list.

Structures can occasionally be dual designated (both listed as buildings and scheduled as monuments). In such cases, scheduling controls take precedence.

SCHEDULED MONUMENTS

Scheduled monuments include single archaeological sites and complex archaeological landscapes. 19,792 examples have been designated because of their national importance. (Scheduled monuments are not graded). They cover human activity from the prehistoric era, such as burial mounds, to 20th century military and industrial remains. For the millennia before written history, archaeology is the only testament to innumerable generations of people of whom there is no other record.

The later 20th century saw unprecedented changes to the landscape. As a result, types of historic site that once were commonplace began to become rare. Those that survive often represent just small islands of what once characterised broad sweeps of our towns and countryside. Although protected by law, scheduled monuments are still at risk from a wide range of processes and intense pressures outside of the planning system. These include damage from cultivation, forestry and – often most seriously of all – wholly natural processes such as scrub growth, animal burrowing and erosion.

REGISTERED PARKS AND GARDENS

There are 1,624 designed landscapes on the current English Heritage Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest. These registered landscapes are graded I, II* or II, and include private gardens, public parks and other green spaces, country estates and cemeteries. They are valued for their design, diversity and historical importance and in contrast to the number of listed buildings and scheduled monuments, registered parks and gardens is a very small group of assets.

Inclusion on the English Heritage Register of Historic Parks and Gardens brings no additional statutory controls, but there is a presumption in favour of conservation of the designated site. Local authorities are required to consult English Heritage on applications affecting sites registered as grade I or II* and the Garden History Society on sites of all grades. The setting of designated heritage assets can also protect registered landscapes.

REGISTERED BATTLEFIELDS

English Heritage's Register of Historic Battlefields was set up in 1995, and is our youngest category of designation. Its aim is to protect and promote those sites where history was made through conflict. They range from the Battle of Maldon (991) to Sedgemoor (1185): almost half date from the period of the the civil wars in the mid-17th century. These are cherished for their memory, and for the respect owing to those who were killed, and whose remains still lie in the field.

Protection is needed to prevent encroachment through inappropriate development, or insensitive (and damaging) metal detecting, which can permanently alter the archaeological records. As with registered parks and gardens, there is a clear presumption in favour of protecting registered battlefields in Government planning policy. Battlefields are not graded.

PROTECTED WRECK SITES

England's 46 protected wreck sites represent a tiny proportion of the 33,000 odd pre-1945 wrecks and recorded casualties that are known to lie in the territorial sea. Wreck sites can be of importance for different reasons: the distinctive design or construction of a ship, the story it can tell about its past, its association with notable people or events and its cargo. The Protection of Wrecks Act 1973 empowers the appropriate Secretary of State to designate a restricted area around a vessel to protect it or its contents from unauthorised interference, and English Heritage administers the attendant licensing scheme for divers seeking access.

CONSERVATION AREAS

Conservation areas are designated by local authorities and are areas of special architectural or historic interest the character or appearance of which it is desirable to preserve or enhance. For more than 40 years conservation areas have proved a highly effective mechanism for managing change on an area-wide basis. There are currently over 9,800 conservation areas in England including town and city centres, suburbs, industrial areas, rural landscapes, cemeteries and residential areas. They form the historic backcloth to national and local life and are a crucial component of local identity and community cohesion.

Criteria for inclusion on the Register

RISK ASSESSMENTS

A risk assessment of a heritage asset is based on the nature of the site. Building or structure assessments, for instance, include listed buildings (but not listed places of worship) and structural scheduled monuments; archaeology assessments cover earthworks and buried archaeology.

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

Buildings or structures (not in use as a public place of worship) considered for inclusion on this Register must be listed grade I or II*, (or grade II in London) or be a structural scheduled monument with upstanding masonry remains. Buildings or structures are assessed for inclusion on the basis of condition and, where applicable, occupancy (or use) reflecting the fact that a building which is occupied is generally less vulnerable than one that is not.

Occupancy (or use) is noted as 'vacant', 'part occupied', 'occupied', 'not applicable', or occasionally, 'unknown'. Many structures fall into the 'not applicable' category as they can be ruins, walls, gates, headstones or boundary stones.

Condition is noted as 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' or 'good'. The condition of buildings or structures on the Register typically ranges from 'very bad' to 'poor', 'fair' and (occasionally) 'good' reflecting the fact that some buildings or structures capable of use are vulnerable to becoming at risk because they are empty, under-used or face redundancy without a new use to secure their future. Assessing vulnerability in the case of buildings in fair condition necessarily involves judgement and discretion. A few buildings on the Register are in good condition, having been repaired or mothballed, but a new use or owner is still to be secured.

Buildings or structures are removed from the Register when they are fully repaired/consolidated, and their future secured through either occupation and use, or through the adoption of appropriate management.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

Places of worship considered for inclusion on this Register must be listed grade I, II* or II and be used as a public place of worship at least six times a year.

Places of worship are assessed on the basis of condition only. If the place of worship is in 'very bad' or 'poor' condition it is added to the Register. Once on the Register, places of worship can move through the condition categories (e.g. from very bad to poor, to fair, even good) as repairs are implemented and the condition improves, until they are fully repaired and can be removed from the Register.

English Heritage has assessed a proportion of the 14,800 listed places of worship. We are working with the respective denominations to assess the remaining places of worship. Those that are identified as at risk will be included on the Register.

ARCHAEOLOGY

Archaeology assessments cover earthworks and buried archaeology. The archaeological sites on this Register have been identified as being at risk because of their condition and vulnerability, the trend in their condition, and their likely future vulnerability. A site's condition is expressed in terms of the scale and severity of adverse effects on it, ranging from those with 'extensive significant problems' to others that have only 'minor localised problems'.

Archaeological entries are removed from the Register once sufficient progress has been made to address identified issues, demonstrating a significant reduction in the level of risk.

PARKS AND GARDENS

The assessment of parks and gardens starts with an appraisal of the condition and vulnerability of each registered landscape. Steps being taken by owners to address problems are also taken into consideration.

Parks and gardens assessed as being at risk are typically affected by development and neglect. They have frequently been altered by development or are faced with major change. The original function of these landscapes has often changed; and divided ownership often results in the loss of the cohesive conservation of the historic designs.

Park and garden entries are removed from the Register once plans are put in place to address issues and positive progress is being made.

BATTLEFIELDS

Battlefields deemed to be at risk of loss of historic significance are included on this Register.

The identified risks and threats come from development pressure – for example, because they lie on urban fringes or are subject to development pressures within the site; arable cultivation, and unregulated metal-detecting. One major impact or a combination of several factors can be enough to raise the risk at a particular site.

Battlefields are removed from the Register when either actual damaging activities are reversed or managed, or threats recede due to effective management planning.

WRECK SITES

English Heritage has audited all designated wreck sites to identify those most at risk based on their current condition, vulnerability and the way they are being managed. Wrecks are vulnerable to both environmental and human impacts. Risks that contribute to the inclusion on the Register range from unauthorised access to erosion and fishing damage.

The monitoring process ensures that the significance of the site is identified and maintained.

In spite of the inherent difficulties in caring for this type of site, careful management must be maintained.

Wrecks are removed from the Register once an appropriate management and monitoring regime is operational.

CONSERVATION AREAS

English Heritage has asked every local authority in England to complete (and update as appropriate) a survey of its conservation areas, highlighting current condition, threats and trends, identifying those that are deteriorating, or are in very bad or poor condition and are not expected to change significantly in the next three years, as being defined as at risk.

The methodology for assessing conservation areas at risk has been refined since the first survey in 2008/2009. The information collated provides a detailed assessment of each conservation area and an overall category for condition, vulnerability and trend is included for each conservation area on this Register. Conservation areas identified as at risk in 2009, but not reassessed since using the revised methodology, are included on the Register but with limited information.

Conservation areas are removed from the Register once plans have been put in place to address the issues that led to the conservation area being at risk, and once positive progress is being made.

Reducing the risks

English Heritage is committed to securing a year-on-year reduction in the number of heritage sites at risk as part of our National Heritage Protection Plan (2011-2015). We have set ourselves a target to remove 25% of entries (1,137) published on the 2010 Register by 2015. Whilst this is a challenge given the number of entries on the Register and the different kinds of risk they face, good progress is being made.

To help address this challenge we have created dedicated Heritage at Risk teams in each local office. We have published our National Heritage at Risk Strategy which is supported by nine local strategies. Key objectives of the strategy are to understand what factors lead to heritage sites becoming at risk, what most influences their removal from the Register, and to achieve this through partnership, stimulating economic regeneration and growth, and maximising the benefit of our expertise and resources.

Whilst each type of heritage asset and individual site will require its own approach and solution, there are some general approaches that are relevant to all at risk assets. Resolving cases requires working in close partnership with owners, local planning authorities and other relevant organisations and partners. The provision of clear advice and understanding are essential.

Maintenance and where appropriate, occupation are key to preventing heritage assets becoming at risk, whilst maintenance of those already at risk will prevent them from decaying further. Without maintenance, the cost of repair and consolidation escalates, the challenge for owners and occupiers increases, and the scope for affordable solutions declines.

English Heritage provides a wide range of published guidance on reducing the risks, including on new uses for heritage assets, finding partners and funding, and on enforcing urgent works and repairs, on our website: www.english-heritage.org.uk or the Historic Environment Local Management (HELM) website: www.helm.org.uk

Historic Environment Records, and local heritage at risk registers maintained by local authorities, are repositories of information on local historic assets. They underpin the work of local authority historic environment services, the inclusion of information about condition can help improve the protection, conservation and management of heritage assets.

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

English Heritage's role in securing the future of buildings and structures that are on the Register is primarily to provide practical advice, guidance and resources to local authorities, owners and developers.

Our local Heritage at Risk teams can help with analysis of the issues, investigating the feasibility of options and brokering solutions. We can advise on sources of grant aid and, where possible and appropriate, the provision of English Heritage's own grants. Our national advisers and specialists in structural engineering, quantity surveying, development economics and law provide support for local teams on particularly difficult cases. We work closely with grant providers, notably the Heritage Lottery Fund and Natural England as these are essential in helping secure the future of buildings or structures on the Register. In very exceptional cases, English Heritage may acquire and repair a particularly important building or structure, where it is clear that this is the only way of securing its long-term future. More information on funding can be found on the HELM website and at www.english-heritage.org.uk/professional/funding

Local authorities have a primary role in protecting the historic environment. The creation of a local heritage at risk register is the first step in tackling neglected buildings. A local register, often compiled with the help of voluntary groups can identify the scale of the problem, promote monitoring and help prioritise resources and action. A range of enforcement powers are available for local authorities to tackle listed buildings at risk but declining resources in local authorities means that these powers are often under-used. In a bid to help, English Heritage now has a legal adviser dedicated to heritage at risk. We can also provide grant aid to underwrite some of the costs involved in serving Urgent Works Notices and Repairs Notices on historic buildings and we hope that this, together with our published guidance (Stopping the Rot) will encourage local authorities to take action to save historic buildings.

Building preservation trusts (BPTs) offer a tried and tested way of saving many buildings at risk. In 2012 English Heritage joined forces with the Architectural Heritage Fund to employ four Heritage at Risk Officers to help not-for-profit organisations take forward building at risk projects. We also provide support for an Industrial Heritage Support Officer based at Ironbridge to work with similar groups running industrial sites. These officers aim to provide a supportive network offering guidance on the establishment of new BPTs, access to funding, training, information and links to associated groups. Case studies and our guidance on the transfer of heritage assets to community and voluntary organisations can be found at www.helm.org.uk/guidance-library/pillars-of-the-community-the-transfer-of-local-authority-heritage-assets

Regular maintenance helps to keep all buildings in good condition but those suffering major problems need repairs to minimise the risks to both the structure and the contents. Keeping drains and gutters clear so that water is taken away from the building efficiently is the most important thing congregations can do as it stops small problems developing into unnecessary crises. The overflowing gutter soon soaks the wall beneath, rots the roof timbers behind it and makes the whole building vulnerable.

In some areas congregations group together to engage reputable contractors at competitive rates to clear gutters and rainwater goods. Such co-operation enables them to get good quality work carried out at reasonable prices by firms that understand historic buildings. The Maintenance Co-operatives project run by the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings will further help to connect, inform and empower those people who look after places of worship.

This year the Heritage Lottery Fund has started funding the new Grants for Places of Worship scheme, the main focus of which is fabric repairs but now also includes small changes to enhance community use of the building. English Heritage's architects and surveyors, based in our local Heritage at Risk teams, provide technical advice to the Heritage Lottery Fund on fabric repairs to ensure appropriate conservation standards are met.

The Government's Listed Places of Worship scheme, enabling the reclaiming of VAT on eligible repairs, maintenance and authorised alterations, is available to all listed places of worship, whether they have obtained grants or are funding work themselves. Local and national charities also offer grants.

English Heritage supports congregations wanting to keep their places of worship in use and recognises the need for appropriate new facilities such as kitchens and toilets that are sensitive to the building's special character. New Work in Historic Places of Worship (published 2012) helps congregations understand how changes can be achieved.

A network of support officers, employed locally but part-funded by English Heritage, offer advice and encouragement to congregations. Projects to effect repairs, develop necessary new facilities, provide community facilities, and welcome visitors are all transforming buildings that were once thought to be unfit for purpose.

ARCHAEOLOGY

The continuing success in reducing the number of archaeological sites on the Register, even in difficult economic times, demonstrates the value which owners and land managers place upon the monuments in their care, and more and more are addressing their long-term management on a regular basis. Many scheduled monuments are now on land subject to an agreement under Natural England's Environmental Stewardship schemes, administered on behalf of Defra. Continuing partnership with Defra and Natural England has resulted in much more effective information sharing which we use in analysing, updating and publishing so that resources – whether Environmental Stewardship or English Heritage – can be more closely targeted where they will have the greatest impact. We have agreed a joint target with Natural England to specifically reduce the number of scheduled monuments on the 2010 Register by 25% by 2015. We also continue to work closely with the Heritage Lottery Fund to help identify those important monuments deserving of grant aid for major stabilisation or repair work.

Nationally, damage from arable cultivation is still the greatest risk factor to archaeological entries on the Register. To help address this, the Conservation of Scheduled Monuments in Cultivation (COSMIC) project, a national survey which looks at ways in which further damage can be avoided whilst enabling cultivation to continue wherever possible will begin reporting in the autumn. Some causes of risk are neither so obvious nor dramatic in their effects however. Analysis of entries on the Register shows that unmanaged woodland, tree, scrub and bracken growth is one of the most widespread causes of long-term damage to both urban and rural archaeological sites, even if the effects are not as visible or as immediately destructive as other processes. In most cases simple, low cost but regular maintenance is the key, the delivery of which will always be reliant upon the help and goodwill of landowners.

PARKS AND GARDENS

Although a statutory list, the Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest in itself brings no additional statutory powers, it instead works through the development control system to provide a valuable tool for the protection of the sites it includes. The Government's National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) stresses the desirability of sustaining and enhancing the significance of all heritage assets and finding viable uses consistent with their conservation. The NPPF states that great weight must be given to the conservation of sites included on the Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest and that substantial harm or loss of such features can only be justified in exceptional cases.

Most historic parks and gardens are either privately owned or in trust. In addition, local authorities are responsible for nearly all the public parks and cemeteries in our towns and cities. Registered parks and gardens are typically large, complex heritage assets, many in multiple ownership, and it can take many years to identify and implement solutions to reduce the risks to parks and gardens.

To help reduce the risks, English Heritage encourages and works with owners to develop conservation management strategies. Our landscape architects can help tailor conservation management plans and funding packages for individual landscape features or whole sites. We work with partners, such as Natural England and the Heritage Lottery Fund, to help source funding to secure sustainable futures for parks and gardens at risk.

Further information and conservation guidance for parks, gardens and designed landscapes is available at: www.english-heritage.org.uk/professional/advice/advice-by-topic/parks-and-gardens

BATTLEFIELDS

As with registered parks and gardens, the Register of Historic Battlefields brings no additional statutory controls to registered battlefields, but the National Planning Policy Framework makes it clear that registered battlefields are of equal significance to scheduled monuments, buildings listed grade I and II*, grade I and II* registered parks and gardens and protected wreck sites. Therefore, the positive conservation and management of registered battlefields is a core element of current heritage legislation.

English Heritage continues to work with owners to develop management plans for registered battlefields and, in appropriate cases, contribute towards the cost of management plans. We work to develop positive landscape strategies with owners and partners such as Defra. In some circumstances, we may encourage the conversion from arable to pasture of especially sensitive locations to protect battlefield archaeology from the effects of ploughing and as part of a wider drive to prevent unauthorised or damaging metal-detecting.

English Heritage also continues to encourage greater access to battlefields and improve their amenity value and visitors' appreciation of the impact these historic events had on our development as a nation.

Local authorities can also invite comments from the Battlefields Trust on planning applications affecting the setting of registered sites.

WRECK SITES

At the strategic level, the major sources of risk to designated wreck sites have been identified. In terms of high-priority sites, practical requirements have also been implemented through conservation management plans.

Risks to protected wreck sites can often be reduced through education, provision of marker buoys, or planning policies that take full account of their national importance. However, some sites require significant resources to stabilise their condition or to carry out detailed archaeological assessments of their conservation requirements. Although English Heritage has statutory power to allocate funds to promote the preservation and maintenance of protected wreck sites, its financial resources can solve only a small proportion of the problems.

In spite of the inherent difficulties with caring for this type of site, careful management must be maintained if we are to avoid the loss of wreck sites. It is therefore close co-operation between the owners of protected wreck sites (where known), authorised divers and all organisations charged with care for the marine and coastal environment, that will make the real difference to their long-term survival.

Practical advice on the management of historic wreck sites, whether at the coast-edge or under water, is available from English Heritage (maritime@english-heritage.org.uk) and from www.helm.org.uk

CONSERVATION AREAS

The risks to conservation areas are difficult to address as they cover large areas of land: they include the spaces between buildings and trees as well as buildings and structures and therefore involve many different owners and methods of management. Looking after conservation areas is a responsibility shared by those of us who own homes and businesses within them as well as those of us whose job it is to manage the spaces between the buildings or make decisions about their future.

The Conservation Areas Survey, completed by local authorities, provides us with an understanding of what is particularly affecting the character and appearance of conservation areas: what is working well or what is putting them at risk. Strong planning policies, guidance and a clear management strategy for individual conservation areas, backed up by effective enforcement, are all critical in managing change in these areas. This is, however, extremely difficult at a time when local authorities across the country are reducing their staff numbers. Armed with the information provided by conservation area surveys, we, local authorities and other partners will have the evidence to direct resources much more accurately towards those conservation areas at greatest risk.

There are opportunities for members of the local community to get involved as well, either individually or through groups. Some local groups have helped to prepare character Appraisals and Management Plans for conservation areas whilst others have carried out their own assessments to identify management issues. Further information on how you can get involved is available at: www.english-heritage.org.uk/caring/get-involved/improving-your-neighbourhood/

Key to the entries

This Register includes the following risk assessment types:

- Buildings and structures
 - grade I and II* listed buildings and structural scheduled monuments
- Places of worship
 - grade I, II* and II listed buildings
- Archaeology
 - Scheduled monuments – earthworks and buried archaeology
- Parks and gardens
- Conservation areas

ORDER

Entries are grouped and ordered alphabetically, first by County (dark grey bands) or Unitary Authority (light grey bands), and then by Local Planning Authority (National Park/Unitary Authority/District or Borough). A blank band denotes the end of a county and the beginning of a unitary authority.

Sites that straddle more than one local planning authority are included under the lead authority.

Within each planning authority, entries are grouped by risk assessment type in the following order:

- Buildings and structures
- Places of worship
- Archaeology
- Parks and gardens
- Conservation Areas

Within each risk assessment type, entries are ordered alphabetically by parish, locality and street/site name (except for conservation areas which are ordered by site name only).

DESIGNATION

The principal designation is noted for each entry and includes:

- Listed Building (LB) grade I or II*
- Listed Place of Worship grade I, II* or II
- Scheduled Monument (SM)
- Registered Park and Garden (RPG) grade I, II* or II
- Conservation area (CA)

Other designations that apply to the designated site, including location within a World Heritage Site (WHS), are also noted.

If an entry is dual designated (both listed and scheduled), 'and' rather than a comma is used (eg 'Scheduled Monument and Listed Building grade I'). If a scheduled monument entry is dual designated with a number of listed buildings, each is separated by a semicolon.

The National Heritage List Entry Number is included for all entries (except conservation areas). If a site is dual designated, all relevant List Entry Numbers are included.

CONDITION

For buildings (including places of worship) at risk, condition is graded as: 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' and 'good'.

For sites that cover areas (scheduled monuments (archaeology assessments) and parks and gardens) one overall condition category is recorded. The category may relate only to the part of the site or monument that is at risk and not the whole site:

- extensive significant problems
- generally unsatisfactory with major localised problems
- generally satisfactory but with significant localised problems
- generally satisfactory but with minor localised problems
- optimal
- unknown (is noted for a number of scheduled monuments that are below-ground and where their condition cannot be established).

For conservation areas, condition is categorised as: 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' and 'optimal'.

If a site has suffered from heritage crime it is noted in the summary. Heritage crime is defined as any offence which harms the heritage asset or its setting and includes arson, graffiti, lead theft and vandalism.

OCCUPANCY / USE

For buildings (excluding places of worship) that can be occupied or have a use, the main vulnerability is vacancy, or under-use. Occupancy (or use) is noted as follows:

- vacant
- part occupied
- occupied
- unknown
- not applicable

VULNERABILITY

Principal vulnerability is noted for archaeology assessments and may relate only to the part of the site that is at risk, and include:

- animal burrowing
- arable ploughing
- coastal erosion
- collapse
- deterioration – in need of management
- scrub/tree growth
- visitor erosion.

For parks and gardens and conservation areas, vulnerability is noted as high, medium or low.

PRIORITY CATEGORY

Priority for action is assessed on a scale of A to F, where 'A' is the highest priority for a site which is deteriorating rapidly with no solution to secure its future, and 'F' is the lowest priority.

For buildings and structures and places of worship the following priority categories are used as an indication of trend and as a means of prioritising action:

- A Immediate risk of further rapid deterioration or loss of fabric; no solution agreed.
- B Immediate risk of further rapid deterioration or loss of fabric; solution agreed but not yet implemented.
- C Slow decay; no solution agreed.
- D Slow decay; solution agreed but not yet implemented.
- E Under repair or in fair to good repair, but no user identified; or under threat of vacancy with no obvious new user (applicable only to buildings capable of beneficial use).
- F Repair scheme in progress and (where applicable) end use or user identified; functionally redundant buildings with new use agreed but not yet implemented.

2012 priority categories are given in brackets, otherwise 'New entry' is noted.

TREND

Trend for archaeology entries and parks and gardens may relate only to the part of the site that is at risk and is categorised as:

- declining
- stable
- improving
- unknown

For conservation areas trend is categorised as:

- deteriorating
- deteriorating significantly
- no significant change
- improving
- improving significantly
- unknown

OWNERSHIP

A principal ownership category is given for each entry, and if sites are in divided ownership, a 'multiple' ownership category is noted.

CONTACT

This is the local Heritage at Risk Principal who acts as a first point of contact for the case, and to whom enquiries should be addressed.

For conservation areas, the contact is the conservation/planning officer at the relevant local planning authority (indicated by 'LPA').

We are not in any sense agents for the owners of the sites included, but we will endeavour to put people in touch with them where appropriate.

SITE NAME:	Gatehouse buildings at Wigmore Abbey, Grange, Adforton
DESIGNATION:	Scheduled Monument and Listed Building grade I, 2 LBs
CONDITION:	Very bad
OCCUPANCY:	N/A
PRIORITY CATEGORY:	A (A)
OWNER TYPE:	Private
LIST ENTRY NUMBER:	1005359 and 1179921

Remains of late C12 and C14 abbey. The Gatehouse comprises two buildings, one is without a roof and in very poor condition. Survey work to inform conservation is required. Structural assessment by English Heritage has indicated that elements of collapse are likely.

SITE NAME:	Ruined Church of St Mary, Avenbury
DESIGNATION:	Scheduled Monument and Listed Building grade II*
CONDITION:	Very bad
OCCUPANCY:	N/A
PRIORITY CATEGORY:	A (A)
OWNER TYPE:	Private
LIST ENTRY NUMBER:	1005356 and 1349633

A ruined C12 church. The tower stands to full height, the roof survived to the mid C20 but has fallen in, the walls of the nave and chancel are half collapsed and survive only to a few feet in places. Fragments of decorated interior plaster survive. This building is in very bad condition. Vegetation clearance has been carried out by the owners under a management agreement. The walls are generally stable but are highly exposed.

SITE NAME:	Belmont House, Clehonger
DESIGNATION:	Listed Building grade II*
CONDITION:	Fair
OCCUPANCY:	Part occupied/part in use
PRIORITY CATEGORY:	E (E)
OWNER TYPE:	Commercial company
LIST ENTRY NUMBER:	1167079

Late C18 country house by James Wyatt, extended and remodelled by EW Pugin circa 1860. The basement is used as a club house for golf course, but the rest of the building is unused. Some holding repairs have been carried out and the building is watertight. There are some areas of weathering and deterioration. Resolution lies in finding and funding an appropriate and sustainable solution for building, this should be encouraged through the planning process.

The remains of a C14 cross comprising a plinth of two stone steps upon which sits a single large square base stone, from which rises the stump of a shaft. The plinth stones have open joints and have cracked and shifted beneath the base, there has been significant downward movement in the second step. The shaft appears sound but is wedged into an oversized square socket in which water pools and debris collects. Repairs to be funded by an English Heritage Management Agreement are under discussion.

C14 castle with C12 motte. Standing remains in serious condition and heavily overgrown. Part of the curtain wall has collapsed. Undermining by badgers and collapse as a result of fallen trees is putting masonry at great risk. English Heritage has funded a survey which will inform discussion with the owners on a plan for long term care and preservation.

This building is part of the scheduled site of the Snailbeach lead mine and was where miners collected their candles before going underground. It dates from the early C19 and is constructed from coursed rubble with brick dressings under a Welsh slate roof. The structure is very simple, substantially intact, but with large holes in the roof and in a derelict state. Subject to the owner's agreement, it is hoped that the building may be acquired by the Shropshire Mines Trust and reunited with the other mining structures which have already been restored with grant aid.

This medieval church stands within the bailey of what was once Holdgate Castle in the Corvedale below Clee Hill. The church is built of sandstone with a Broseley plain clay tile roof. The roofs and rainwater goods need replacement. Poor drainage is causing rising damp and damage to a set of pews within the church. A Repair Grant for Places of Worship was offered and accepted in January 2013 and repair works have begun to address these issues.

This small Norman chapel consists of a nave and lower chancel with broad full height clasping buttresses and lesenes, a continuous mid-height string course, tiny round head windows and a richly decorated south doorway. The church was repaired following SPAB principles by Basil Stallybrass in 1912 but assorted repairs including the relaying of the chancel roof, the renewal of rainwater goods, the installation of a surface water drainage system and assorted masonry consolidation and repointing works are now all urgently required.

Designed landscape largely creation of the C19. Gardens and pleasure grounds survive, generally in satisfactory condition. However, substantial loss of design integrity where new buildings erected for National Sports Centre. Levels altered to facilitate sports pitches and golf course, although some historic plantings remain. Part of the park is in the district of Telford and Wrekin.

The Orangery is a stone building designed by James 'Athenian' Stuart for Sir William Bagot in circa 1769. It is one of a number of listed buildings and structures at Blithfield Hall. Rainwater penetration is causing the deterioration of stonework and internal plasterwork. An English Heritage grant has been offered for repairs.

Opened in the 1860s, in 1937, Chatterley Whitfield became the first mine in Britain to draw more than a million tons of coal in a year. The pithead baths and canteen were erected at this time and are of special interest as an example of large scale provision for miners in the early C20. On the closure of the mine the buildings were used to accommodate a museum. The whole colliery site is now vacant and these buildings are in very poor condition.

This medieval church was largely rebuilt in 1717 but retains its medieval tower. Non-breathable paint on the nave is trapping moisture in brickwork, leading to significant internal damp problems and deterioration of outer brick face. Dry rot to timber of apse stained glass windows has spread into walls and inappropriate use of cement tiles on hipped roof is leading to structural problems. The building has multiple fabric defects. This church has been the victim of heritage crime.

This is a large brick-built, Italianate-style church built in 1925 to the designs of the Architect JS Brocklesbury. It has a finely decorated interior. Recent grant-aided repairs to the sanctuary and ambulatory roofs have addressed issues relating to drainage and differential settlement but the nave roof and its asphalt-lined eaves gutters are time-expired and require renewal. Extensive re-pointing of the nave clerestory and buttresses is also urgently required to prevent continued water ingress and further damage to the structure, interior decorations and fixtures.

Church built in 1841 by Stanley of Shelton, a local architect, in the Byzantine Romanesque style. Blocked or defective rainwater goods in several locations have caused damage to the internal finishes and there are significant areas of rising damp. The nave roof has minor defects. The church has suffered from heritage crime. The external masonry is slowly deteriorating: the latest quinquennial inspection report makes recommendations for a steeplejack inspection of both the tower and spire.

All periods of medieval architecture are represented in the fabric of the church which is built of course lias rubble with red sandstone buttresses and dressings. The roofs are plain tiled. Despite the vulnerability of lias, the general condition of the church is good. However, stonework to the upper parts of the tower, in particular the parapets is very poor and the stump of the spire is allowing water into the building. A Repair Grant for Places of Worship was offered in January 2013 to complete necessary repairs.

St Milburga's Church is situated some distance from the village of Wixford, on higher ground overlooking the Arrow Valley. The church is small, with a nave and chancel under one roof, and a chapel unusually attached to the south side. At the west end a bell turret rises from the nave ridge with a shingled spire above a square louvred bell chamber. The south slope of the roof is in poor condition and allowing water to enter the building. A Repair Grant for Places of Worship was offered in August 2012 for the work.

Sandstone ashlar bridge dated 1441 giving access across moat to site of medieval manor house of Goodrest. The moated site has become overgrown with vegetation. Due to previous stone robbing, some of the masonry of the bridge is missing, including coping stones and a complete section of the surface walkway. A condition survey is required. Discussions have started with new owners on possible management agreement.

Late Medieval bridge. Ownership of remains split three ways. Earlier proposals for stabilisation were very costly and beyond available resources. It has been proposed that ownership should be transferred to a trust who would co-ordinate restoration and funding package but this has not progressed. A fresh survey of condition and repair costs has been suggested to move things forward.

The Leper Hospital of St Michael was founded in C12; the Master's House survives and is a timber-framed building of C15 date built upon C12 foundations. The timber frame and roof are in very poor condition, there are general structural problems throughout the building which has been propped to prevent collapse and covered in tarpaulins. An options appraisal was carried out by the Local Authority with English Heritage grant and a project is in development.

Cemetery chapel, 1846-47, probably by GH Stokes at southern end of the mid C19 cemetery, landscaped by Joseph Paxton in an informal style. The City Council repaired roof to its original design following a fire and carried out other repairs including capping the pavilion walls, interior pointing, installing security grills and doors. However, the building remains without a use and in a vulnerable condition.

C19 triangular boat crane, in poor condition. English Heritage funded a report on the condition and repair of the monument. A grant application for repairs was made but later withdrawn as no other funding was available for repairs. The crane collapsed in 2002 and sections of structure remain stored in the yard. A joint initiative is needed for the repair/reinstatement of the structure. An interpretation project has been carried out culminating on several panels, erected along the Boshboil Arm.

All Saints is a large urban church in the centre of Bromsgrove built in the 1870s to the design of John Cotton. It is constructed from rock-faced sandstone with brick detailing and interior walling with a plain clay tile roof. The three-stage tower is capped by an octagonal in place of the spire that was planned but never built. Stonework to the tower and walls requires repair and repointing, parts of the roof are in poor condition; the vestry roof leaks. Work to address these issues, funded by a Repair Grant for Places of Worship, is underway.

SITE NAME:	Churchyard cross, St Mary's Church, Shrawley	This cross is a good example of a medieval standing cross base of stepped form with a moulded plinth. It is believed to stand in its original position, and limited development in the area immediately surrounding the cross suggests that archaeological deposits relating to the monument's construction and use in this location are likely to survive intact. The joints between the plinth stones are open, some stones have cracked through and the surface of the stones is mossy.

Fine example of early C16 bridge of six arches built in sandstone. It is a narrow single track road bridge controlled by traffic lights. The bridge has suffered from frequent traffic collisions. The Local Authority has undertaken stonework repairs and is about to embark on protection measures for the bridge to reduce the harmful impact of traffic. Chemical erosion from roadsalt penetration of structure is causing stonework failure.

31 High Street is the solar wing of a C14 timber framed town house. The front range is rendered but incorporates exceptional timber work in the roof and ceiling structures. C17 extensions to the rear are in very bad condition with structural failure to the timber frame and walls. Failed rainwater goods and a roof in poor condition are letting water into the structure and rotting the frame. The building is only partly occupied.

The old church of St Peter was pulled down in 1870, leaving the remains of the porch that stood under the west tower. It is constructed of rubble masonry, which has been pointed with cement in the past and is now cracking. Issues include significant ivy growth on south side, missing roof tiles, salt erosion causing stone damage by road and structural cracking on southeast corner. Scheme of repair prepared but not implemented. Condition is deteriorating.

Medieval church dating from the C13 to C14 with Perpendicular window tracery. It was restored in 1875 by Hopkins. There are patches of weathered stonework on the tower and chancel as well as vegetation and moss growth on the tower, nave, vestry and chancel. Leaking guttering on the vestry has resulted in the saturation of surrounding stonework and there are some structural cracks in the east elevation of the vestry.

St John the Baptist was built in the 1860s to designs by WJ Hopkins and remains largely unaltered. This is a large sandstone church with red brick bands picking out the chancel, tower and west end. It has a plain clay tile roof which is in poor condition with many rusted nails putting the roof at risk. There is evidence of structural movement in the west and east ends. A Repair Grant for Places of Worship was offered in February 2013 to address these issues.
