HERITAGE AT RISK

EAST OF ENGLAND

HERITAGE AT RISK

Heritage at Risk is our campaign to save listed buildings and important historic sites, places and landmarks from neglect or decay. At its heart is the Heritage at Risk Register, an online database containing details of each site known to be at risk. It is analysed and updated annually and this leaflet summarises the results.

Over the past year we have focused much of our effort on assessing listed Places of Worship, and visiting those considered to be in poor or very bad condition as a result of local reports.

We now know that of the 14,775 listed places of worship in England, 6% (887) are at risk and as such are included on this year's Register. These additions mean the overall number of sites on the Register has increased to 5,753. However, 575 sites have been removed from the 2013 Register, which includes one of our biggest achievements this year, Clophill Old St Mary's Church.

Greg Luton, Planning and Conservation Director, East of England

Over the last year 16 buildings or structures, 27 places of worship, 12 conservation areas, 9 archaeological entries and 1 park and garden have been saved and removed from the Register.

We have also visited and assessed over 350 places of worship to help target advice and support towards those most at risk; as well as providing expert technical advice to the Heritage Lottery Fund under the Grants for Places of Worship Scheme which has helped remove 27 listed places of worship from the East of England Register this year.

Positive progress has been made on 9 of our top ten priority sites over the last year; with 3 of them, Langham Trainer Dome, Clophill Old Church and Pentney Priory Gatehouse removed from the Register this year. Many buildings and structures have been rescued following successful partnerships with private owners, trusts and other funding bodies including Natural England, the Heritage Lottery Fund and WREN (landfill tax distributor), with £1.7m of English Heritage grant spent assisting 21 heritage sites in the East. Grants have also been offered to 4 new urgent cases needing repair this year including Sibton Abbey, Drinkstone Mill, Barnham nuclear bomb store, Suffolk and Hopton on Sea old church, Norfolk. We have also funded repairs being undertaken to ruined parts of St Osyth's Priory, Essex.

Wisbech, known as the Capital of the Fens and a particularly fine and historic Georgian Market town and port, has been subject to close partnership working with the District Council and local community to address a number of key architectural buildings at risk. We also helped support an application to the Heritage Lottery Fund for a Townscape Heritage bid to help address some of these problem buildings as well as with regenerating the wider townscape newly identified as a conservation area at risk.

There are other challenges for the years ahead including Stow Maries airfield, Essex a uniquely well preserved WWI aerodrome, which was purchased for the nation with grants from English Heritage, the National Heritage Memorial Fund and local authority loans last year. Following assessment 10 of the 24 grade II* listed buildings have been added to the Register and we are working closely with a new trust and their volunteers, local authorities and other stakeholders to conserve and repair the site.

Close co-operation with Natural England has been vital to help with our shared objectives for historic features and sites under agri-environment schemes with 10 sites on the Register removed this year including Euston Park, Suffolk, following works to de-silt and restore the lakes and water bodies. A challenge this year will be to help with targeting the New Environment Land Management Scheme which replaces the Stewardship Scheme in 2015.

FRISTON POST MILL, FRISTON, SUFFOLK

Friston Post Mill, the tallest surviving post mill in Britain, has been on the Heritage at Risk Register since 2006. It is one of just four post mills of the tall east Suffolk type to survive, and generally acknowledged as the most intact and tallest. The owner is working with English Heritage to formulate a repair strategy and is developing a community-led bid to the Heritage Lottery Fund. This would see the completed conservation and restoration of the whole site, and develop a community learning centre focused on mills and milling, and conservation workshops open to the public.

REMAINS OF AUGUSTINIAN PRIORY GATEHOUSE, PENTNEY, NORFOLK

BACKGROUND AND HISTORY

The Augustinian Priory at Pentney, dedicated to the Holy Trinity, St Mary and St Mary Magdalen, was founded around 1130 by Robert de Vaux and endowed with various properties including the manor of Pentney. It was one of at least seven monastic foundations situated in or adjacent to the Nar valley. Two others, including the associated Wormegay Priory, were of the Augustinian order. Being among the larger religious foundations in Norfolk, these were moderately wealthy. After the Dissolution of the Monasteries the site of the priory, with a water mill and the manor of Pentney, was granted to Sir Thomas Mildmay sometime after 1537.

In late November 2011 the building was roofless, and the first floor structure and vault over the carriageway and the upper parts of the two internal supporting walls had collapsed. As a result, the outer walls had lost structural integrity. Parapets and upper masonry were all in precarious condition, with strong likelihood of further collapse. Some internal scaffolding had previously been erected in an attempt to brace the external walls, but the central gate passage was buried in places by up to 2 metres of collapsed material.

IS IT AT RISK?

Pentney Priory Gatehouse was on the Buildings at Risk Register from 1998. It was removed this year following a significant scheme and two phases of repair. In January 2012, a Project Development grant was offered from English Heritage. Work began immediately, project managed by the owner, on the erection of internal and external scaffolding, and a temporary roof. At the same time, an archaeological brief was agreed and the excavation of collapsed stonework began under close archaeological supervision.

WHAT'S THE CURRENT SITUATION?

Phase 2 repair works were confined to imperative external and internal structural repairs, high and low level masonry, and the provision of a roof. This has restored structural integrity to the upper sections of the medieval stonework, ensured adequate rainwater disposal and prevented further loss of internal surfaces and finishes. The owners undertook further works in order to bring the building back into use as an events or wedding venue. All works were completed by December 2013.

HELP HISTORIC BUILDINGS

Historic buildings are irreplaceable; they give us our sense of place and contribute to our quality of life. These precious buildings need to be looked after for future generations, but how do we know what needs our help the most? English Heritage is encouraging community groups, volunteers, building owners and local authorities across the country to come together to record the condition of grade II listed buildings in their area. Volunteers will visit a selection of grade II buildings local to them and answer questions, in the form of a survey, about the condition of the building. This information will be collected together and shared with local planning authorities to help identify those grade II buildings most at risk. Visit www.english-heritage.org.uk/help/historicbuildings to find out more.

LANGHAM AIRFIELD DOME TRAINER, LANGHAM, NORFOLK

BACKGROUND AND HISTORY

The intriguing structure of Langham Dome has a diameter of 40 feet and a height of 25 feet. The concrete is 4.5 inches thick, over a steel framework and supported by a steel lattice set within the concrete. Externally, it was only protected by a light render, and the interior was plastered.

Inside, a white lined interior formed a screen onto which moving pictures of aircraft were projected. A mock gun, with a yellow beam and realistic sound effects was used by the trainee to aim at and shoot the targets. The trainee, who wore yellow tinted goggles, could not see the beam, but the trainer could, in order to judge how well the trainee was performing.

The dome was only in use for the second half of the second world war and has deteriorated steadily since the closure of the airfield. The concrete had carbonated and no longer gave protection to the main reinforcing steelwork, which had begun to rust and expand, thereby breaking the concrete and allowing further water penetration. This led to extensive rusting internally and the failing of the plasterwork. All services and equipment were missing.

The dome was gifted to the North Norfolk Historic Buildings Trust in 2008. The Friends of Langham Dome was established in 2010. The two groups proceeded to work in partnership towards the restoration of the dome.

IS IT AT RISK?

No. Langham Dome was on the Heritage at Risk Register from 1998 to 2013. The conservation and restoration works have been completed and the dome has been removed from the Register this year. The repair and preservation of rusting ferro-concrete structures is a highly technical and specialist business, but it has been successfully achieved at Langham Dome to an exemplary standard.

WHAT'S THE CURRENT SITUATION?

The Trust applied to English Heritage and the Heritage Lottery Fund for grants. A development phase grant was awarded by HLF in 2011 and a delivery phase grant was awarded in 2013 for £446,000. £200,000 was awarded from English Heritage and £46,000 in partnership funding from The Coastal Sustainability Fund, North Norfolk District Council, Norfolk County Council, Architectural Heritage Fund and the Paul Bassham Trust. Thanks to the partnership funding, this complex and unusual project was completed. Langham Dome is now open as an educational and memorial centre, focusing on the history of the airfield and the Dome and in memory of the men and women who were stationed there.

DESIGNATION

Definition

All the historic environment matters but there are some elements which warrant extra protection through the planning system. These are included in the National Heritage List for England (NHLE), an online searchable database of designated assets (<http://list.english-heritage.org.uk>). Since 1882, when the first Act protecting ancient monuments and archaeological remains was passed, government has been developing the designation system. Listing, which is applied to buildings, emerged from the post-Blitz 1940s planning acts. There are now nearly 400,000 designated assets on the NHLE including listed buildings, scheduled monuments, registered parks and gardens, registered battlefields and protected wreck sites.

English Heritage, as the government's expert adviser, is responsible for making recommendations – but it is still the Secretary of State at the Department for Culture Media and Sport who makes the decisions on whether an asset is designated. Understanding and appreciation develop constantly, which makes keeping the designation base up-to-date a never-ending challenge.

While responding to threat-driven cases, we increasingly seek to work strategically through the National Heritage Protection Plan. Recent developments have seen a greater striving for openness and transparency in the process of designating a site, and better communication of what makes something special.

Alongside the nationally designated assets found on the National Heritage List for England are locally designated assets. Best known are conservation areas, but local authorities can also create lists of locally valued assets. Most archaeological sites of significance are not scheduled, but rely on local identification and management for their protection.

LISTED BUILDINGS

Listing is by far the most commonly encountered type of designation. A listed building (or structure) is one that has been designated as being of special architectural or historic interest. The older and rarer a building is, the more likely it is to be listed. Buildings less than 30 years old are listed only if they are of outstanding quality and under threat.

Listed buildings are graded I, II* and II. Grade I buildings are of outstanding interest, and II* are particularly important buildings of more than special interest; together they amount to 8% of all listed buildings. The remaining 92% are of special interest and are listed grade II.

There are almost 376,000 listed entries on the statutory list of buildings of special architectural or historic interest. Entries on the statutory list sometimes group together a number of separate buildings: a terrace will be counted as one entry, rather than as separate units. Entries on this Register reflect how buildings are grouped and recorded on the statutory list.

Structures can occasionally be dual designated (both listed as buildings and scheduled as monuments). In such cases, scheduling controls take precedence.

SCHEDULED MONUMENTS

Scheduled monuments include single archaeological sites and complex archaeological landscapes. 19,833 examples have been designated because of their national importance. Scheduled monuments are not graded. They cover human activity from the prehistoric era, such as burial mounds, to 20th century military and industrial remains. For the millennia before written history, archaeology is the only testament to innumerable generations of people of whom there is no other record.

The later 20th century saw unprecedented changes to the landscape. As a result, types of historic site that once were commonplace began to become rare. Those that survive often represent just small islands of what once characterised broad sweeps of our towns and countryside. Although protected by law, scheduled monuments are still at risk from a wide range of processes and intense pressures outside of the planning system. These include damage from cultivation, forestry and – often most seriously of all – wholly natural processes such as scrub growth, animal burrowing and erosion.

REGISTERED PARKS AND GARDENS

There are 1,628 designed landscapes on the current English Heritage Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest. These registered landscapes are graded I, II* or II, and include private gardens, public parks and cemeteries, rural parkland and other green spaces. They are valued for their design and cultural importance, and are distinct from natural heritage designations.

Inclusion on the English Heritage Register of Historic Parks and Gardens brings no additional statutory controls, but there is a clear presumption in favour of upholding their significance in government planning guidance. Local authorities are required to consult English Heritage on applications affecting sites registered as grade I or II* and the Garden History Society on sites of all grades. The setting of other designated heritage assets can also protect registered landscapes.

REGISTERED BATTLEFIELDS

English Heritage's Register of Historic Battlefields was set up in 1995, and is our youngest category of designation. Its aim is to protect and promote those sites where history was made through conflict. They range from the Battle of Maldon (991) to Sedgemoor (1685); almost half date from the period of the civil wars in the mid-17th century. These special places, where thousands were often killed, deserve our recognition and respect. Recently, additions have been made to the Register of Historic Battlefields for the first time since its creation. There are now 46 registered battlefields.

Protection is needed to prevent encroachment through inappropriate development, or insensitive (and damaging) metal detecting, which can permanently alter the archaeological record. As with registered parks and gardens, there is a clear presumption in favour of protecting registered battlefields in Government planning policy.

PROTECTED WRECK SITES

England's 49 protected wreck sites represent a tiny proportion of the 33,000 or so pre-1945 wrecks and recorded casualties that are known to lie in the territorial waters. Wreck sites can be of importance for different reasons: the distinctive design or construction of a ship, the story it can tell about its past, its association with notable people or events and its cargo. The Protection of Wrecks Act 1973 empowers the appropriate Secretary of State to designate a restricted area around a vessel to protect it or its contents from unauthorised interference, and English Heritage administers the attendant licensing scheme for divers seeking access.

CONSERVATION AREAS

Conservation areas are designated by local authorities and are areas of particular architectural or historic interest, the character or appearance of which it is desirable to preserve or enhance. For more than 40 years conservation areas have proved a highly effective mechanism for managing change on an area-wide basis. There are currently 9,848 conservation areas in England including town and city centres, suburbs, industrial areas, rural landscapes, cemeteries and residential areas. They form the historic backcloth to national and local life and are a crucial component of local identity and community cohesion.

Criteria for inclusion on the Register

RISK ASSESSMENTS

A risk assessment of a heritage asset is based on the nature of the site. Building or structure assessments, for instance, include listed buildings (but not listed places of worship) and structural scheduled monuments; archaeology assessments cover earthworks and buried archaeology.

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

Buildings or structures (not in use as public places of worship) considered for inclusion on this Register must be listed grade I or II*, (or grade II in London) or be a structural scheduled monument with upstanding masonry remains. Buildings or structures are assessed for inclusion on the basis of condition and, where applicable, occupancy (or use) reflecting the fact that a building which is occupied is generally less vulnerable than one that is not.

Occupancy (or use) is noted as 'vacant', 'part occupied', 'occupied', 'not applicable', or occasionally, 'unknown'. Many structures fall into the 'not applicable' category as they can be ruins, walls, gates, headstones or boundary stones.

Condition is noted as 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' or 'good'. The condition of buildings or structures on the Register typically ranges from very bad to poor, fair and (occasionally) good reflecting the fact that some buildings or structures capable of use are vulnerable to becoming at risk because they are empty, under-used or face redundancy without a new use to secure their future. Assessing vulnerability in the case of buildings in fair condition necessarily involves judgement and discretion. A few buildings on the Register are in good condition, having been repaired or mothballed, but a new use or owner is still to be secured.

Buildings or structures are removed from the Register when they are fully repaired/consolidated, and their future secured through either occupation and use, or through the adoption of appropriate management.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

Places of worship considered for inclusion on this Register must be listed grade I, II* or II and be used as a public place of worship at least six times a year.

Places of worship are assessed on the basis of condition only. If the place of worship is in very bad or poor condition it is added to the Register.

English Heritage has visited and assessed listed places of worship considered to be in poor or very bad condition according to local assessments. Those that are identified as at risk are included on the Register.

Once on the Register, places of worship can move through the condition categories (e.g. from very bad to poor, to fair, even good) as repairs are implemented and the condition improves, until they are fully repaired and can be removed from the Register.

ARCHAEOLOGY

Archaeology assessments cover earthworks and buried archaeology. The archaeological sites on this Register have been identified as being at risk because of their condition and vulnerability, the trend in their condition, and their likely future vulnerability. A site's condition is expressed in terms of the scale and severity of adverse effects on it, ranging from those with 'extensive significant problems' to others that have only 'minor localised problems'.

Archaeological entries are removed from the Register once sufficient progress has been made to address identified issues, demonstrating a significant reduction in the level of risk.

PARKS AND GARDENS

The assessment of parks and gardens starts with an appraisal of the condition and vulnerability of each registered landscape. Steps being taken by owners to address problems are also taken into consideration.

Parks and gardens assessed as being at risk are typically affected by development and neglect. They have frequently been altered by development or are faced with major change. The original function of these landscapes has often changed; and divided ownership often results in the loss of the cohesive conservation of the historic designs.

Park and garden entries are removed from the Register once plans are put in place to address issues and positive progress is being made.

BATTLEFIELDS

Battlefields deemed to be at risk of loss of historic significance are included on this Register.

The identified risks and threats come from development pressure - for example, because they lie on urban fringes or are subject to development pressures within the site; arable cultivation, and unregulated metal-detecting. One major impact or a combination of factors can be enough to raise the risk of a particular site.

Battlefields are removed from the Register when either actual damaging activities are reversed or managed, or threats recede due to effective management planning.

WRECK SITES

English Heritage has audited all designated wreck sites to identify those most at risk based on their current condition, vulnerability and the way they are being managed. Wrecks are vulnerable to both environmental and human impacts. Risks that contribute to inclusion on the Register range from unauthorised access to erosion and fishing damage.

The monitoring process ensures that the significance of the site is identified and maintained.

In spite of the inherent difficulties in caring for this type of site, careful management must be maintained.

Wrecks are removed from the Register once an appropriate management and monitoring regime is operational.

CONSERVATION AREAS

English Heritage has asked every local authority in England to complete (and update as appropriate) a survey of its conservation areas, highlighting current condition, threats and trends. Conservation areas that are deteriorating, or are in very bad or poor condition and are not expected to change significantly in the next three years, are defined as being at risk.

The methodology for assessing conservation areas at risk has been refined since the first survey in 2008/2009. The information collated provides a detailed assessment of each conservation area and an overall category for condition, vulnerability and trend is included for each conservation area on this Register. Conservation areas identified as at risk in 2009, but not reassessed since using the revised methodology, are included on the Register but with limited information.

Conservation areas are removed from the Register once plans have been put in place to address the issues that led to the conservation area being at risk, and once positive progress is being made.

Reducing the risks

English Heritage is working to secure a reduction in the number of heritage sites at risk as part of our contribution to the National Heritage Protection Plan (2011-2015). We have set ourselves a target to remove 25% of entries (1,137) published on the 2010 Register by 2015. Despite the challenge, given the number of entries on the Register and the different kinds of risk they face, excellent progress is being made.

The published Heritage at Risk National Strategy (www.english-heritage.org.uk/publications/eh-har-strategy-2011-15) sets out how this will be delivered through our dedicated Heritage at Risk teams in each local office. Key objectives of the strategy are to understand what factors lead to heritage sites becoming at risk, what most influences their removal from the Register, and to achieve this through partnership, stimulating economic regeneration and growth, and maximising the benefit of our expertise and resources.

Whilst each type of heritage asset and individual site will require its own approach and solution, there are some general approaches that are relevant to all 'at risk' assets. Resolving cases requires working in close partnership with owners, local planning authorities and a wide variety of other relevant organisations. The provision of clear advice and understanding are essential.

Maintenance and where appropriate, occupation are key to preventing heritage assets becoming at risk, whilst maintenance of those already at risk will prevent them from decaying further. Without maintenance, the cost of repair and consolidation escalates, the challenge for owners and occupiers increases, and the scope for affordable solutions declines.

English Heritage provides a wide range of published guidance on reducing the risks, including: new uses for heritage assets, finding partners and funding, and on enforcing urgent works and repairs, on our website: www.english-heritage.org.uk or the Historic Environment Local Management (HELM) website: www.helm.org.uk. Key publications and guidance are listed on pages XIV-XV.

Historic Environment Records and local heritage at risk registers, maintained by local authorities, are repositories of information on local historic assets. They underpin the work of local authority historic environment services and can help improve the protection, conservation and management of heritage assets.

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

Our nine local teams can help existing and potential owners, developers and local authorities with the assessment of risk and the identification of appropriate programmes of repair. They can advise on the benefits of additional survey and assessment, help with feasibility studies and with brokering solutions. In particularly difficult cases they can draw on the additional expertise of our national advisers specialising in structural engineering, quantity surveying, development economics, enforcement and planning law. We can help with access to funding as we work closely with grant providers including the Heritage Lottery Fund and Natural England. Our own principal grant stream for buildings and structures is the Historic Buildings, Monuments and Designed Landscapes (HBMDL) grant but Section 17 Management Agreements can also be used to tackle risk to scheduled monuments. More information on funding can be found at www.english-heritage.org.uk/professional/funding.

We know from our own Register how useful it is in managing risk, prioritising action and engaging partners. We are therefore working with local authorities and voluntary groups to enable them to compile local heritage at risk registers and develop strategies for tackling buildings in poor condition. These strategies should include the use of enforcement powers. Our Heritage at Risk Legal Adviser can support local authorities considering enforcement action and we have published guidance at www.english-heritage.org.uk/publications/stoppingtherot. In certain circumstances we can also provide grant aid to underwrite the cost of serving Urgent Works and Repairs Notices.

Building preservation trusts (BPTs) offer a tried and tested way of saving buildings at risk. We have close links with the Architectural Heritage Fund and fund their regional support officers to work across the county. They help BPTs and other not-for-profit organisations access funding, carry out feasibility studies and develop solutions for buildings at risk. For more information on support officers and BPTs visit www.ahfund.org.uk and www.ukapt.org.uk. Guidance and case studies can be found at www.english-heritage.org.uk/publications/pillars-of-the-community.

English Heritage also funds an Industrial Heritage Support Officer to work with groups running industrial heritage sites. For more information please visit www.industrialheritagesupport.wordpress.com.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

Regular maintenance helps to keep all buildings in good condition but those suffering major problems need repairs to minimise the risks to both the structure and the contents. Keeping drains and gutters clear so that water is taken away from the building efficiently is the most important thing congregations can do as this stops small problems developing into unnecessary crises. The overflowing gutter soon soaks the wall beneath, rots the roof timbers behind it and makes the whole building vulnerable.

In some areas congregations group together to engage reputable contractors at competitive rates to clear gutters and rainwater goods. Such co-operation enables them to get good quality work carried out at reasonable prices by firms that understand historic buildings. The Maintenance Co-operatives project run by the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings will further help to connect, inform and empower those people who look after places of worship.

The Heritage Lottery Fund runs the new Grants for Places of Worship scheme. The main focus of the scheme is fabric repairs but it also provides funds for modest changes to enhance community use of the building. English Heritage's architects and surveyors, based in our local Heritage at Risk teams, provide technical advice to the Heritage Lottery Fund on fabric repairs to ensure appropriate conservation standards are met.

The Government's Listed Places of Worship scheme, enabling the reclaiming of VAT on eligible repairs, maintenance and authorised alterations, is available to all listed places of worship, whether they have obtained grants or are funding work themselves. Local and national charities also offer grants.

English Heritage supports congregations wanting to keep their places of worship in use and recognises the need for appropriate new facilities such as kitchens and toilets that are sensitive to the building's special character. New Work in Historic Places of Worship (published 2012) helps congregations understand how changes can be achieved.

A network of support officers, employed locally but part-funded by English Heritage, offers direct advice and encouragement to congregations. Projects to effect repairs and develop necessary new facilities for both the community and visitors are breathing a new lease of life into these treasured parts of our heritage.

ARCHAEOLOGY

The excellent progress which is being made with reducing the number of scheduled monuments on the Register continues to demonstrate the value which owners and land managers are placing upon the positive management of archaeological sites. The large majority (84%) of the 19,832 scheduled monuments in England (in 2013) are on land classified as agricultural. Effective information sharing with Natural England and Defra is therefore of great importance for prioritising management action and for targeting agri-environment grant schemes to best effect. This will be especially important with the New Environmental Land Management Scheme (NELMS) which commences in 2015. Natural England now shares our corporate target of removing 25% of the scheduled monuments on the 2010 Register by 2015. We also continue to work closely with the Heritage Lottery Fund to identify the nationally important monuments deserving of grant-aid for enhanced conservation, presentation and access projects.

Loss and damage as a consequence of arable cultivation remains the greatest source of risk to scheduled monuments on the Register. Reporting in late 2013, however, the Conservation of Scheduled Monuments in Cultivation (COSMIC) project has provided updated risk assessments for 1587 sites on the Register, and features bespoke prescriptions for reducing the risks from cultivation damage. In some cases, the COSMIC mitigation recommendations have already been acted upon by our local teams, resulting in a significant number of removals from the 2013 Register.

Analysis of entries on the Register shows that unmanaged woodland, tree, scrub and bracken growth is one of the most widespread causes of long-term damage to both urban and rural archaeological sites - even if the effects are not as visible or as immediately destructive as other processes. In most cases simple, low cost but regular maintenance is the key, the delivery of which will always be reliant upon the help and goodwill of landowners.

PARKS AND GARDENS

Although a statutory list, the Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest in England in itself brings no additional statutory powers, it instead works through the development control system to provide a valuable tool for the protection of the sites it includes. The Government's National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) stresses the desirability of sustaining and enhancing the significance of all heritage assets and finding viable uses consistent with their conservation. The NPPF states that great weight must be given to the conservation of sites included on the Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest and that substantial harm or loss of such features can only be justified in exceptional cases.

A great many historic parks and gardens are either privately owned or in trust. In addition, local authorities are responsible for nearly all the public parks and cemeteries in our towns and cities. Registered parks and gardens are typically large, complex heritage assets, many in multiple ownership, and it can take years to identify and implement solutions to reduce the risks to parks and gardens.

To help reduce the risks, English Heritage encourages and works with owners to develop conservation management strategies. Landscape architects working in our Heritage at Risk teams can help tailor conservation management plans and funding packages for individual landscape features or whole sites. We work with partners, such as Natural England and the Heritage Lottery Fund, to help source funding to secure sustainable futures for parks and gardens at risk.

Further information and conservation guidance for parks, gardens and designed landscapes is available at: www.english-heritage.org.uk/professional/advice/advice-by-topic/parks-and-gardens.

BATTLEFIELDS

As with registered parks and gardens, the Register of Historic Battlefields brings no additional statutory controls to registered battlefields, but the National Planning Policy Framework makes it clear that registered battlefields are of equal significance to scheduled monuments, buildings listed grade I and II* registered parks and gardens and protected wreck sites. Therefore, the positive conservation and management of registered battlefields is a core element of current heritage legislation.

English Heritage continues to work with owners to develop management plans for registered battlefields and, in appropriate cases, contribute towards the cost of management plans. We work to develop positive landscape strategies with owners and partners such as Defra through Environmental Stewardship schemes. In some circumstances, we may encourage the conversion from arable to pasture of especially sensitive locations to protect battlefield archaeology from the effects of ploughing and as part of a wider drive to prevent unauthorised or damaging metal-detecting.

English Heritage also continues to encourage greater access to battlefields and improve their amenity value and visitors' understanding of the impact these historic events had on our development as a nation.

Local authorities can also invite comments from the Battlefields Trust on planning applications affecting the setting of registered battlefield sites.

WRECK SITES

At the strategic level, the major sources of risk to protected wreck sites have been identified. In terms of high-priority sites, practical requirements have also been implemented through conservation management plans and appropriate intervention.

Risks to protected historic wreck sites can often be reduced through education, provision of marker buoys, or planning policies that take full account of their national importance. However, some sites require significant resources to stabilise their condition or to carry out detailed archaeological assessments of their conservation requirements. Although English Heritage has statutory power to allocate funds to promote the preservation and maintenance of protected wreck sites, its financial resources can solve only a small proportion of the problems.

In spite of the inherent difficulties with caring for this type of site, careful management must be maintained if we are to avoid the loss of wreck sites. It is therefore close co-operation between the owners of protected wreck sites (where known), authorised divers and all organisations charged with care for the marine and coastal environment, that will make the real difference to their long-term survival.

Practical advice on the management of historic wreck sites, whether at the coast-edge or under water, is available from English Heritage (maritime@english-heritage.org.uk) and from www.helm.org.uk

CONSERVATION AREAS

The risks to conservation areas are difficult to address as these designated areas can constitute large areas of land; they include streets, spaces, archaeology and trees as well as buildings and structures and therefore involve many different owners and methods of management. Looking after conservation areas is a responsibility shared by those of us who own homes and businesses within them as well as those of us whose job it is to manage them or make decisions about their future.

The Conservation Areas Survey, completed by local authorities, provides us with an understanding of what is particularly affecting the character and appearance of conservation areas: what is working well or what is putting them at risk. Strong planning policies, guidance and a clear management strategy for individual conservation areas, backed up by effective enforcement, are all critical in managing change in these areas. This is, however, extremely difficult at a time when local authorities across the country are reducing their staff numbers. Armed with the information provided by conservation area surveys, we, local authorities and other partners will have the evidence to direct resources much more accurately towards those conservation areas at greatest risk.

There are opportunities for members of the local community to get involved with protecting and enhancing their conservation area, either individually or through groups. Some local groups have helped to prepare character appraisals and management plans for conservation areas whilst others have carried out their own assessments to identify management issues. Further information on how you can get involved is available at: www.english-heritage.org.uk/caring/get-involved/improve-your-neighbourhood.

Key to the entries

This Register includes the following risk assessment types

- Building or structure
(grade I and II* listed buildings and structural scheduled monuments)
- Place of worship
(grade I, II* and II listed buildings)
- Archaeology
(scheduled monuments – earthworks and buried archaeology)
- Park and garden
(Registered parks and gardens)
- Conservation area
(Conservation areas)

ORDER

Entries are grouped and ordered alphabetically, first by County (dark grey bands) or Unitary Authority (light grey bands), and then by Local Planning Authority (National Park/Unitary Authority/District or Borough).

A blank band denotes the end of a county and the beginning of a unitary authority.

Sites that straddle more than one local planning authority are included under the lead authority.

Within each planning authority, entries are grouped by risk assessment type in the following order:

- Buildings or structures
- Places of worship
- Archaeology
- Parks and gardens
- Conservation areas

Within each risk assessment type, entries are ordered alphabetically by parish, locality and street/site name (except for conservation areas which are ordered by site name only).

DESIGNATION

The principal designation is noted for each entry and includes:

- Listed Building (LB) grade I or II*
- Listed Place of Worship grade I, II* or II
- Scheduled Monument (SM)
- Registered Park and Garden (RPG) grade I, II* or II
- Conservation Area (CA)

Other designations that apply to the designated site, including location within a World Heritage Site (WHS), are also noted.

If an entry is dual designated (both listed and scheduled), 'and' rather than a comma is used (eg 'Scheduled Monument and Listed Building grade I'). If a scheduled monument entry is dual designated with a number of listed buildings, each is separated by a semicolon.

The National Heritage List Entry Number is included for all entries (except conservation areas). If a site is dual designated, all relevant List Entry Numbers are noted.

CONDITION

For buildings (including places of worship), condition is graded as: 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' and 'good'.

For sites that cover areas (scheduled monuments (archaeology assessments) and parks and gardens) one overall condition category is recorded. The category may relate only to the part of the site or monument that is at risk and not the whole site:

- extensive significant problems
- generally unsatisfactory with major localised problems
- generally satisfactory but with significant localised problems
- generally satisfactory but with minor localised problems
- optimal
- unknown (noted for a number of scheduled monuments that are below-ground and where their condition cannot be established).

For conservation areas, condition is categorised as: 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' and 'optimal'.

If a site has suffered from heritage crime it is noted in the summary. Heritage crime is defined as any offence which harms the heritage asset or its setting and includes arson, graffiti, lead theft and vandalism.

OCCUPANCY/USE

For buildings (excluding places of worship) that can be occupied or have a use, the main vulnerability is vacancy or under-use. Occupancy (or use) is noted as follows:

- vacant
- part occupied
- occupied
- unknown
- not applicable

VULNERABILITY

Principal vulnerability is noted for archaeology assessments and may relate only to the part of the site that is at risk, and include:

- animal burrowing
- arable ploughing
- coastal erosion
- collapse
- deterioration – in need of management
- scrub/tree growth
- visitor erosion

For parks and gardens and conservation areas, vulnerability is noted as high, medium or low.

PRIORITY CATEGORY

Priority for action is assessed on a scale of A to F, where 'A' is the highest priority for a site which is deteriorating rapidly with no solution to secure its future, and 'F' is the lowest priority.

For buildings and structures and places of worship the following priority categories are used as an indication of trend and as a means of prioritising action:

- A Immediate risk of further rapid deterioration or loss of fabric; no solution agreed
- B Immediate risk of further rapid deterioration or loss of fabric; solution agreed but not yet implemented
- C Slow decay; no solution agreed
- D Slow decay; solution agreed but not yet implemented
- E Under repair or in fair to good repair, but no user identified; or under threat of vacancy with no obvious new user (applicable only to buildings capable of beneficial use)
- F Repair scheme in progress and (where applicable) end use or user identified; functionally redundant buildings with new use agreed but not yet implemented.

2013 priority categories are given in brackets, otherwise 'New entry' is noted.

'New entry – re-assessed' indicates an existing site on the Register that has been re-assessed using a different risk assessment methodology and is included on this year's Register under the new assessment type.

TREND

Trend for archaeology entries and parks and gardens may relate only to the part of the site that is at risk and is categorised as:

- declining
- stable
- improving
- unknown

For conservation areas trend is categorised as:

- deteriorating
- deteriorating significantly
- no significant change
- improving
- improving significantly
- unknown

OWNERSHIP

A principal ownership category is given for each entry, and if sites are in divided ownership, a 'multiple' ownership category is noted.

CONTACT

This is the member of the English Heritage local team who acts as a first point of contact for the case, and to whom enquiries should be addressed.

For conservation areas, the contact is the conservation/planning officer at the relevant local planning authority (indicated by 'LPA').

We are not in any sense agents for the owners of the sites included, but we will endeavour to put people in touch with them where appropriate.

Originally C18 drainage mill for the neighbouring Fen, relocated during 1830s to present position and converted to a corn mill. Six-sided timber-framed smock mill. Has machinery but the cap is deformed, leaking; and will not turn to wind. Some temporary repairs completed 2009 to attend to leaks. Since 2012 and a change of ownership, repairs have been undertaken and condition has improved. Plans remain to repair cap, curb and sails, and to make the mill mechanically sound. Some emergency works have been recently complete. This mill is part of the 'East Anglian Mills Society' (TEAMS) grouping.

The chancel is C15 on an earlier site, the nave C14 and the tower C15. The church is suffering from severe settlement, especially the north aisle wall is pulling horizontally away from the aisle at floor level. Signs of stress in nave arcades at tie beam/truss positions, and at each end in masonry of the south aisle. Attention also needed to roofs and rainwater goods and drainage. A Repair Grant for Places of Worship was offered 2012, towards structural issues due to clay subsoil and poor drainage. Project development phase now underway with urgent repairs due to be completed autumn 2014.

LIST ENTRY NUMBER:	1111500

A substantial late medieval church of flint and stone rubble, much restored in the C19. The building suffers from subsidence at the east end of the chancel, where recent repairs have failed, resulting in substantial cracks re-appearing in the walls and at the junction of the chancel roof and the east gable. Structural movement continues at the east end of the church, with previously repaired areas cracking again. Long-term solution to be agreed.

The Water Gardens were registered in 2010 and are the subject of a Heritage Lottery Fund bid in February 2014 by Dacorum Borough Council. The gardens are well-used but the original concrete structures are in need of urgent repair. Little original planting survives and improved maintenance resources are required. There is a significant problem with geese. The design legibility of the canal and basin has been eroded by recent and invasive planting and the creation of two islands circa 1980. Discussions with the Environment Agency over weirs have taken place under the Water Framework Directive.

A grade II* church largely dating from the C13 and later, but incorporating earlier fabric of 1108-1114. The exterior was rendered in 1824. In 1947, two sides of the west tower collapsed. Although these are largely completed, additional costs have forced some work to be deferred, leaving parts of the chancel and vestry damp and at risk of further deterioration. Medieval church tower. The nave, although rebuilt in 1847, was demolished, along with the chancel, in 1981. The tower, which is covered in ivy, requires stabilisation and the roof and internal floor have collapsed but not fully fallen through to ground level. The tower was struck by lightning and parapet damaged in 2007. Panxworth Parochial Church Council and local interest group have agreed schedule of repair to the building with English Heritage grant aid. Repairs are expected to be completed by end of summer 2014.

A roofless church tower, built of flintwork with some brick and stone detailing. The tower may date from C11 and is the only remnant of St Mary's Church, which was left to become a ruin in 1882 when the decision was taken to use the adjacent All Saints Church as the main place of worship for the parish. At risk of partial collapse due to eroding fabric, an English Heritage grant was accepted in 2012. The repair project is underway and is expected to be completed by late 2014.

The west tower and nave of this church date from the C11. Parish church. C11 with C13 and C15 re-modelling. Round west tower, probably late C11, divided into stages by three stone bands. North west bay of chancel has C15 2-light window flanked by blocked circular openings. North aisle has two 2-light C13 'Y' tracery windows and, at north west corner, north doorway with billet hood mould and shaft, scallop and roll-moulded arches. Widespread damage from damp caused by inadequate disposal of rainwater is leading to deterioration of internal fabric and structural problems in external walls. Repair strategy yet to be agreed and implemented.

House, 1681. Currently vacant, last used as residential quarters. Re-use of the building is complicated by its location within a military site. A serious dry rot problem was treated 1998-2003, but has caused considerable damage to the interior. Building has been vacant for many years. Rigid application of 3-year break clause in all long leases granted by Ministry of Defence has seriously worsened potential for reuse by charitable trusts.

The old part of the church has bell tower with cedar shingles, which are in very poor condition with daylight visible from inside. Extensive mid C19 Italianate garden by Charles Barry set in C17 park, for which Humphry Repton prepared a Red Book in 1789 and William Woods in 1808. Many proposals have been implemented in the expanded park. The site is in divided ownership following sale in 2009 and boundary fence erected. Management of Old Hall landscape is improving but the built garden features and planting are significantly decayed. Church dating from the C14, prominently situated in the Cavendish Conservation Area at the east end of the green. Unusual features include the vaulted parvise and external arched timber bell cage and flagpole combined which sits on the tower parapet. There is some deterioration of masonry on the tower. The flagpole has begun to lean, possibly because the plated joint at low level is becoming ineffective. This needs to be investigated to confirm its condition. PCC have applied to Heritage Lottery Fund for grant assistance.

Martello Tower Z forms part of a chain of martello towers along the south and east coast of England dating from the early C19. The tower has been unused since the Second World War. Whilst generally robust and structurally sound a recent condition survey undertaken as part of a Heritage Lottery Funded Landscape Heritage Initiative has indicated the need for repairs to prevent water ingress. Further discussions with the owner are needed to consider any urgent conservation works to the tower.

Church with Norman origins, with some fabric of that period surviving (north nave doorway and areas of coursed "herringbone" flintwork). Major remodelling in C15. The major features are the neoclassical mausoleum added in 1830, and the remarkable collection of C18 and C19 monuments. Serious rainwater leakage through the mausoleum roof has de-stabilised the interior plasterwork, causing areas to fall off and threatening further loss.
