HERITAGE AT RISK

Heritage at Risk is our campaign to save listed buildings and important historic sites, places and landmarks from neglect or decay. At its heart is the Heritage at Risk Register, an online database containing details of each site known to be at risk. It is analysed and updated annually and this leaflet summarises the results.

Over the past year we have focused much of our effort on assessing listed Places of Worship, and visiting those considered to be in poor or very bad condition as a result of local reports. We now know that of the 14,775 listed places of worship in England, 6% (887) are at risk and as such are included on this year's Register. These additions mean the overall number of sites on the Register has increased to 5,753. However, 575 sites have been removed from the 2013 Register, which includes one of our biggest achievements this year, 39 (42%) of monuments in the North York Moors National Park.

Tammy Whitaker, Planning and Conservation Director, Yorkshire

In Yorkshire we have removed 32.7% of entries from the 2010 Register, against the national target of a 25% reduction by 2015. We have continued to make great progress, removing 122 assets from the Register, including 96 scheduled monuments, 18 places of worship and 5 buildings or structures. Our approach continues to focus on Yorkshire's most distinctive heritage.

The Ancient Landscapes of the Wolds and Moors

These landscapes contain some of England's most important prehistoric sites. Working with the North York Moors National Park and Natural England, we are addressing the threats to the area's many barrows and dykes. A national project focussing on the risks from arable cultivation was completed in 2014 and is helping us to work with owners to ensure effective management of their sites.

The Industrial Remains of the Dales

Lead mining has shaped the landscape of the Dales since Roman times and our successful partnership with the National Park has ensured the survival of significant structural remains and mining landscapes all over the Dales. Work has been completed at Gunnerside Gill, Red Scar, Grinton and Bolton Park mine.

South Yorkshire Metal Trades

Eagle Works, Sheffield, is being incorporated into an exciting mixed use development, with the repair of Green Lane Works forming part of a further phase of work, the overall project greatly enhancing to the Kelham Island Conservation Area. We are working with Sheffield City Council to secure the future of Leah's Yard in the heart of the city. With the East Peak Innovation Partnership we have secured the future of important industrial remains, including the blast furnace and engine house at Rockley, near Barnsley.

Textile Industry of the West Riding

Finding viable uses for large textile mills remains challenging, but we have supported the successful repair and reuse of St Catherine's Home in the Manningham St Paul's conservation area in Bradford. At Manningham Mills we have supported the cost of urgent works to failing historic fabric and are working with the owners and other stakeholders to find an appropriate solution for the site. At Dalton Mills, Keighley, we are working with the new owner to support his vision for the site. He has already completed some repairs using his own resources. Next year we will focus our efforts on Hunslet Mill, Leeds, which suffered storm damage in late 2013.

Designed Landscapes of South Yorkshire

Bretton Park has been removed from the Heritage at Risk Register following conservation of the landscape with funding from Natural England and repairs to the chapel with grant from English Heritage and others. We are grant-aiding the repair of the gates at Oakes Park, Sheffield and the repair of the Ice House at High Melton. Other projects, at Wentworth Woodhouse and Wentworth Castle, are currently under discussion.

Principal Adviser, Heritage at Risk

CHURCH OF ST WILFRID, HALTON, LEEDS

The spectacular interior of the grade II* listed St Wilfrid's church has been repaired and redecorated following the completion of three phases of repair to its roofs and windows. The church was built in 1937-9 and is the last work of A Randall Wells. It marks the ultimate development of his individualistic Arts and Crafts style. The total cost of work was over £700,000 and was supported with almost £650,000 of public grants, allowing this fine church to continue to serve the local community.

ADLINGFLEET MEDIEVAL RECTORY, ADLINGFLEET, EAST RIDING OF YORKSHIRE

BACKGROUND AND HISTORY:

The current owners bought the site in the 1990s and after repairing the main house, which is now their family home, they turned their attention to the derelict outbuilding in the garden. This is actually the standing remains of a 13th century rectory incorporating a reset 12th century doorway along with later alterations. It is a very rare surviving example of a medieval secular building in this part of Yorkshire. Used as an agricultural building from the 18th century onwards, the roof was removed in c1970 and the condition of the building deteriorated over the next four decades. Without a roof to protect the fabric from the elements and to tie the walls together the structure was vulnerable. By the time it was added to the Heritage at Risk Register most of the east wall had collapsed, the west wall was bulging and cracking and the inserted south gable was unstable, having very little connection to the adjacent walls. Following a period of investigation, survey and recording funded by the LEADER programme, English Heritage was able to offer a grant for repair in 2013. This, together with funding from the owners, was used to re-roof the structure and make it wind and watertight and structurally sound.

IS IT AT RISK?

No, having first been placed on the Buildings at Risk Register in 1998 and the Heritage at Risk Register in 2008 the building has recently undergone a programme of extensive recording and repair funded by English Heritage, the LEADER programme and the building's owners. It was removed from the Heritage at Risk Register in 2014.

WHAT'S THE CURRENT SITUATION?

With grant funding the building was made wind and watertight and structurally sound, but the owners, Tim and Amanda Harding, have gone the extra mile to make the building usable and to secure its long term future. They have learned how to mix and work with lime mortar to re-point the internal walls. They have rebuilt part of the first floor to increase the amount of useful internal space. They have broken up a defective 20th century concrete floor and cleaned hundreds of reclaimed bricks to repair an earlier brick and cobble floor hidden beneath the concrete. They have dug a soak away to drain the site and have now turned their attention to the setting of the building and are recreating a medieval garden in the area where the construction site compound was located. The newly repaired building will be used by the owners and the local community for a variety of uses and events beginning with an official opening timed to coincide with Heritage Open Days 2014.

HELP HISTORIC BUILDINGS

Historic buildings are irreplaceable; they give us our sense of place and contribute to our quality of life. These precious buildings need to be looked after for future generations, but how do we know what needs our help the most? English Heritage is encouraging community groups, volunteers, building owners and local authorities across the country to come together to record the condition of grade II listed buildings in their area. Volunteers will visit a selection of grade II buildings local to them and answer questions, in the form of a survey, about the condition of the building. This information will be collected together and shared with local planning authorities to help identify those grade II buildings most at risk. Visit www.english-heritage.org.uk/help/historicbuildings to find out more.

ROCKLEY ENGINE HOUSE AND BLAST FURNACE, BARNESLEY, SOUTH YORKSHIRE

BACKGROUND AND HISTORY:

Iron has been produced in England from at least 500 BC and in South Yorkshire the iron industry has played a major part in the history of the county with its importance peaking in the industrial revolution. With its fast flowing rivers and naturally occurring coal and iron ore, the county became a hub of metal working in England.

The Blast Furnace at Rockley is a well preserved upstanding structure. Documentary evidence suggests that the furnace was constructed in 1652 by Lionel Copley of Rotherham in order to replace a bloomery which stood close to the site.

The Engine House is constructed of sandstone and stands to its full height and dates from 1813. The Engine House was built to house a Newcomen Engine showing how the improvements in technology were added to existing sites to increase and improve productivity. This engine has since been removed.

Together these monuments provide a fascinating insight into the development and changing needs of the iron industry from the 17th to 19th centuries.

In 1957 the Sheffield Trades Historical Society purchased Rockley Engine House from the Wentworth Estate. This society later became the South Yorkshire Industrial History Society (SYIHS). They have managed the monument since.

IS IT AT RISK?

No, both the Blast Furnace and Engine House have been removed from the Heritage at Risk Register in 2014 thanks to the partnership working of SYIHS, the East Peak

Innovation Partnership and grant aid from LEADER and English Heritage. Both monuments were on the Heritage at Risk Register from 2012-2013. They were suffering from structural problems caused by plant growth. There was also evidence of antisocial behaviour in and around the site.

In 2010, The East Peak Innovation Partnership embarked on a project to promote the work of local groups in securing the long term sustainability of Industrial Heritage in the East Peak. Part of this project was the identification of monuments at risk and their repair.

WHAT'S THE CURRENT SITUATION?

Both the Furnace and Engine House are now fully consolidated and a management programme has been drawn up and agreed with the SYIHS to ensure that the monuments are regularly maintained. Not only will the monuments continue to be managed, but also the surrounding woodland will be managed to prevent any further encroachment onto the scheduled monuments. The site is fully open to the public and longer term plans include interpretation of the site to improve public understanding of this important piece of Yorkshire's industrial heritage.

DESIGNATION

Definition

All the historic environment matters but there are some elements which warrant extra protection through the planning system. These are included in the National Heritage List for England (NHLE), an online searchable database of designated assets (<http://list.english-heritage.org.uk>). Since 1882, when the first Act protecting ancient monuments and archaeological remains was passed, government has been developing the designation system. Listing, which is applied to buildings, emerged from the post-Blitz 1940s planning acts. There are now nearly 400,000 designated assets on the NHLE including listed buildings, scheduled monuments, registered parks and gardens, registered battlefields and protected wreck sites.

English Heritage, as the government's expert adviser, is responsible for making recommendations – but it is still the Secretary of State at the Department for Culture Media and Sport who makes the decisions on whether an asset is designated. Understanding and appreciation develop constantly, which makes keeping the designation base up-to-date a never-ending challenge.

While responding to threat-driven cases, we increasingly seek to work strategically through the National Heritage Protection Plan. Recent developments have seen a greater striving for openness and transparency in the process of designating a site, and better communication of what makes something special.

Alongside the nationally designated assets found on the National Heritage List for England are locally designated assets. Best known are conservation areas, but local authorities can also create lists of locally valued assets. Most archaeological sites of significance are not scheduled, but rely on local identification and management for their protection.

LISTED BUILDINGS

Listing is by far the most commonly encountered type of designation. A listed building (or structure) is one that has been designated as being of special architectural or historic interest. The older and rarer a building is, the more likely it is to be listed. Buildings less than 30 years old are listed only if they are of outstanding quality and under threat.

Listed buildings are graded I, II* and II. Grade I buildings are of outstanding interest, and II* are particularly important buildings of more than special interest; together they amount to 8% of all listed buildings. The remaining 92% are of special interest and are listed grade II.

There are almost 376,000 listed entries on the statutory list of buildings of special architectural or historic interest. Entries on the statutory list sometimes group together a number of separate buildings: a terrace will be counted as one entry, rather than as separate units. Entries on this Register reflect how buildings are grouped and recorded on the statutory list.

Structures can occasionally be dual designated (both listed as buildings and scheduled as monuments). In such cases, scheduling controls take precedence.

SCHEDULED MONUMENTS

Scheduled monuments include single archaeological sites and complex archaeological landscapes. 19,833 examples have been designated because of their national importance. Scheduled monuments are not graded. They cover human activity from the prehistoric era, such as burial mounds, to 20th century military and industrial remains. For the millennia before written history, archaeology is the only testament to innumerable generations of people of whom there is no other record.

The later 20th century saw unprecedented changes to the landscape. As a result, types of historic site that once were commonplace began to become rare. Those that survive often represent just small islands of what once characterised broad sweeps of our towns and countryside. Although protected by law, scheduled monuments are still at risk from a wide range of processes and intense pressures outside of the planning system. These include damage from cultivation, forestry and – often most seriously of all – wholly natural processes such as scrub growth, animal burrowing and erosion.

REGISTERED PARKS AND GARDENS

There are 1,628 designed landscapes on the current English Heritage Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest. These registered landscapes are graded I, II* or II, and include private gardens, public parks and cemeteries, rural parkland and other green spaces. They are valued for their design and cultural importance, and are distinct from natural heritage designations.

Inclusion on the English Heritage Register of Historic Parks and Gardens brings no additional statutory controls, but there is a clear presumption in favour of upholding their significance in government planning guidance. Local authorities are required to consult English Heritage on applications affecting sites registered as grade I or II* and the Garden History Society on sites of all grades. The setting of other designated heritage assets can also protect registered landscapes.

REGISTERED BATTLEFIELDS

English Heritage's Register of Historic Battlefields was set up in 1995, and is our youngest category of designation. Its aim is to protect and promote those sites where history was made through conflict. They range from the Battle of Maldon (991) to Sedgemoor (1685); almost half date from the period of the civil wars in the mid-17th century. These special places, where thousands were often killed, deserve our recognition and respect. Recently, additions have been made to the Register of Historic Battlefields for the first time since its creation. There are now 46 registered battlefields.

Protection is needed to prevent encroachment through inappropriate development, or insensitive (and damaging) metal detecting, which can permanently alter the archaeological record. As with registered parks and gardens, there is a clear presumption in favour of protecting registered battlefields in Government planning policy.

PROTECTED WRECK SITES

England's 49 protected wreck sites represent a tiny proportion of the 33,000 or so pre-1945 wrecks and recorded casualties that are known to lie in the territorial waters. Wreck sites can be of importance for different reasons: the distinctive design or construction of a ship, the story it can tell about its past, its association with notable people or events and its cargo. The Protection of Wrecks Act 1973 empowers the appropriate Secretary of State to designate a restricted area around a vessel to protect it or its contents from unauthorised interference, and English Heritage administers the attendant licensing scheme for divers seeking access.

CONSERVATION AREAS

Conservation areas are designated by local authorities and are areas of particular architectural or historic interest, the character or appearance of which it is desirable to preserve or enhance. For more than 40 years conservation areas have proved a highly effective mechanism for managing change on an area-wide basis. There are currently 9,848 conservation areas in England including town and city centres, suburbs, industrial areas, rural landscapes, cemeteries and residential areas. They form the historic backcloth to national and local life and are a crucial component of local identity and community cohesion.

Criteria for inclusion on the Register

RISK ASSESSMENTS

A risk assessment of a heritage asset is based on the nature of the site. Building or structure assessments, for instance, include listed buildings (but not listed places of worship) and structural scheduled monuments; archaeology assessments cover earthworks and buried archaeology.

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

Buildings or structures (not in use as public places of worship) considered for inclusion on this Register must be listed grade I or II*, (or grade II in London) or be a structural scheduled monument with upstanding masonry remains. Buildings or structures are assessed for inclusion on the basis of condition and, where applicable, occupancy (or use) reflecting the fact that a building which is occupied is generally less vulnerable than one that is not.

Occupancy (or use) is noted as 'vacant', 'part occupied', 'occupied', 'not applicable', or occasionally, 'unknown'. Many structures fall into the 'not applicable' category as they can be ruins, walls, gates, headstones or boundary stones.

Condition is noted as 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' or 'good'. The condition of buildings or structures on the Register typically ranges from very bad to poor, fair and (occasionally) good reflecting the fact that some buildings or structures capable of use are vulnerable to becoming at risk because they are empty, under-used or face redundancy without a new use to secure their future. Assessing vulnerability in the case of buildings in fair condition necessarily involves judgement and discretion. A few buildings on the Register are in good condition, having been repaired or mothballed, but a new use or owner is still to be secured.

Buildings or structures are removed from the Register when they are fully repaired/consolidated, and their future secured through either occupation and use, or through the adoption of appropriate management.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

Places of worship considered for inclusion on this Register must be listed grade I, II* or II and be used as a public place of worship at least six times a year.

Places of worship are assessed on the basis of condition only. If the place of worship is in very bad or poor condition it is added to the Register.

English Heritage has visited and assessed listed places of worship considered to be in poor or very bad condition according to local assessments. Those that are identified as at risk are included on the Register.

Once on the Register, places of worship can move through the condition categories (e.g. from very bad to poor, to fair, even good) as repairs are implemented and the condition improves, until they are fully repaired and can be removed from the Register.

ARCHAEOLOGY

Archaeology assessments cover earthworks and buried archaeology. The archaeological sites on this Register have been identified as being at risk because of their condition and vulnerability, the trend in their condition, and their likely future vulnerability. A site's condition is expressed in terms of the scale and severity of adverse effects on it, ranging from those with 'extensive significant problems' to others that have only 'minor localised problems'.

Archaeological entries are removed from the Register once sufficient progress has been made to address identified issues, demonstrating a significant reduction in the level of risk.

PARKS AND GARDENS

The assessment of parks and gardens starts with an appraisal of the condition and vulnerability of each registered landscape. Steps being taken by owners to address problems are also taken into consideration.

Parks and gardens assessed as being at risk are typically affected by development and neglect. They have frequently been altered by development or are faced with major change. The original function of these landscapes has often changed; and divided ownership often results in the loss of the cohesive conservation of the historic designs.

Park and garden entries are removed from the Register once plans are put in place to address issues and positive progress is being made.

BATTLEFIELDS

Battlefields deemed to be at risk of loss of historic significance are included on this Register.

The identified risks and threats come from development pressure - for example, because they lie on urban fringes or are subject to development pressures within the site; arable cultivation, and unregulated metal-detecting. One major impact or a combination of factors can be enough to raise the risk of a particular site.

Battlefields are removed from the Register when either actual damaging activities are reversed or managed, or threats recede due to effective management planning.

WRECK SITES

English Heritage has audited all designated wreck sites to identify those most at risk based on their current condition, vulnerability and the way they are being managed. Wrecks are vulnerable to both environmental and human impacts. Risks that contribute to inclusion on the Register range from unauthorised access to erosion and fishing damage.

The monitoring process ensures that the significance of the site is identified and maintained.

In spite of the inherent difficulties in caring for this type of site, careful management must be maintained.

Wrecks are removed from the Register once an appropriate management and monitoring regime is operational.

CONSERVATION AREAS

English Heritage has asked every local authority in England to complete (and update as appropriate) a survey of its conservation areas, highlighting current condition, threats and trends. Conservation areas that are deteriorating, or are in very bad or poor condition and are not expected to change significantly in the next three years, are defined as being at risk.

The methodology for assessing conservation areas at risk has been refined since the first survey in 2008/2009. The information collated provides a detailed assessment of each conservation area and an overall category for condition, vulnerability and trend is included for each conservation area on this Register. Conservation areas identified as at risk in 2009, but not reassessed since using the revised methodology, are included on the Register but with limited information.

Conservation areas are removed from the Register once plans have been put in place to address the issues that led to the conservation area being at risk, and once positive progress is being made.

Reducing the risks

English Heritage is working to secure a reduction in the number of heritage sites at risk as part of our contribution to the National Heritage Protection Plan (2011-2015). We have set ourselves a target to remove 25% of entries (1,137) published on the 2010 Register by 2015. Despite the challenge, given the number of entries on the Register and the different kinds of risk they face, excellent progress is being made.

The published Heritage at Risk National Strategy (www.english-heritage.org.uk/publications/eh-har-strategy-2011-15) sets out how this will be delivered through our dedicated Heritage at Risk teams in each local office. Key objectives of the strategy are to understand what factors lead to heritage sites becoming at risk, what most influences their removal from the Register, and to achieve this through partnership, stimulating economic regeneration and growth, and maximising the benefit of our expertise and resources.

Whilst each type of heritage asset and individual site will require its own approach and solution, there are some general approaches that are relevant to all 'at risk' assets. Resolving cases requires working in close partnership with owners, local planning authorities and a wide variety of other relevant organisations. The provision of clear advice and understanding are essential.

Maintenance and where appropriate, occupation are key to preventing heritage assets becoming at risk, whilst maintenance of those already at risk will prevent them from decaying further. Without maintenance, the cost of repair and consolidation escalates, the challenge for owners and occupiers increases, and the scope for affordable solutions declines.

English Heritage provides a wide range of published guidance on reducing the risks, including: new uses for heritage assets, finding partners and funding, and on enforcing urgent works and repairs, on our website: www.english-heritage.org.uk or the Historic Environment Local Management (HELM) website: www.helm.org.uk. Key publications and guidance are listed on pages XIV-XV.

Historic Environment Records and local heritage at risk registers, maintained by local authorities, are repositories of information on local historic assets. They underpin the work of local authority historic environment services and can help improve the protection, conservation and management of heritage assets.

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

Our nine local teams can help existing and potential owners, developers and local authorities with the assessment of risk and the identification of appropriate programmes of repair. They can advise on the benefits of additional survey and assessment, help with feasibility studies and with brokering solutions. In particularly difficult cases they can draw on the additional expertise of our national advisers specialising in structural engineering, quantity surveying, development economics, enforcement and planning law. We can help with access to funding as we work closely with grant providers including the Heritage Lottery Fund and Natural England. Our own principal grant stream for buildings and structures is the Historic Buildings, Monuments and Designed Landscapes (HBMDL) grant but Section 17 Management Agreements can also be used to tackle risk to scheduled monuments. More information on funding can be found at www.english-heritage.org.uk/professional/funding.

We know from our own Register how useful it is in managing risk, prioritising action and engaging partners. We are therefore working with local authorities and voluntary groups to enable them to compile local heritage at risk registers and develop strategies for tackling buildings in poor condition. These strategies should include the use of enforcement powers. Our Heritage at Risk Legal Adviser can support local authorities considering enforcement action and we have published guidance at www.english-heritage.org.uk/publications/stoppingtherot. In certain circumstances we can also provide grant aid to underwrite the cost of serving Urgent Works and Repairs Notices.

Building preservation trusts (BPTs) offer a tried and tested way of saving buildings at risk. We have close links with the Architectural Heritage Fund and fund their regional support officers to work across the county. They help BPTs and other not-for-profit organisations access funding, carry out feasibility studies and develop solutions for buildings at risk. For more information on support officers and BPTs visit www.ahfund.org.uk and www.ukapt.org.uk. Guidance and case studies can be found at www.english-heritage.org.uk/publications/pillars-of-the-community.

English Heritage also funds an Industrial Heritage Support Officer to work with groups running industrial heritage sites. For more information please visit www.industrialheritagesupport.wordpress.com.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

Regular maintenance helps to keep all buildings in good condition but those suffering major problems need repairs to minimise the risks to both the structure and the contents. Keeping drains and gutters clear so that water is taken away from the building efficiently is the most important thing congregations can do as this stops small problems developing into unnecessary crises. The overflowing gutter soon soaks the wall beneath, rots the roof timbers behind it and makes the whole building vulnerable.

In some areas congregations group together to engage reputable contractors at competitive rates to clear gutters and rainwater goods. Such co-operation enables them to get good quality work carried out at reasonable prices by firms that understand historic buildings. The Maintenance Co-operatives project run by the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings will further help to connect, inform and empower those people who look after places of worship.

The Heritage Lottery Fund runs the new Grants for Places of Worship scheme. The main focus of the scheme is fabric repairs but it also provides funds for modest changes to enhance community use of the building. English Heritage's architects and surveyors, based in our local Heritage at Risk teams, provide technical advice to the Heritage Lottery Fund on fabric repairs to ensure appropriate conservation standards are met.

The Government's Listed Places of Worship scheme, enabling the reclaiming of VAT on eligible repairs, maintenance and authorised alterations, is available to all listed places of worship, whether they have obtained grants or are funding work themselves. Local and national charities also offer grants.

English Heritage supports congregations wanting to keep their places of worship in use and recognises the need for appropriate new facilities such as kitchens and toilets that are sensitive to the building's special character. New Work in Historic Places of Worship (published 2012) helps congregations understand how changes can be achieved.

A network of support officers, employed locally but part-funded by English Heritage, offers direct advice and encouragement to congregations. Projects to effect repairs and develop necessary new facilities for both the community and visitors are breathing a new lease of life into these treasured parts of our heritage.

ARCHAEOLOGY

The excellent progress which is being made with reducing the number of scheduled monuments on the Register continues to demonstrate the value which owners and land managers are placing upon the positive management of archaeological sites. The large majority (84%) of the 19,832 scheduled monuments in England (in 2013) are on land classified as agricultural. Effective information sharing with Natural England and Defra is therefore of great importance for prioritising management action and for targeting agri-environment grant schemes to best effect. This will be especially important with the New Environmental Land Management Scheme (NELMS) which commences in 2015. Natural England now shares our corporate target of removing 25% of the scheduled monuments on the 2010 Register by 2015. We also continue to work closely with the Heritage Lottery Fund to identify the nationally important monuments deserving of grant-aid for enhanced conservation, presentation and access projects.

Loss and damage as a consequence of arable cultivation remains the greatest source of risk to scheduled monuments on the Register. Reporting in late 2013, however, the Conservation of Scheduled Monuments in Cultivation (COSMIC) project has provided updated risk assessments for 1587 sites on the Register, and features bespoke prescriptions for reducing the risks from cultivation damage. In some cases, the COSMIC mitigation recommendations have already been acted upon by our local teams, resulting in a significant number of removals from the 2013 Register.

Analysis of entries on the Register shows that unmanaged woodland, tree, scrub and bracken growth is one of the most widespread causes of long-term damage to both urban and rural archaeological sites - even if the effects are not as visible or as immediately destructive as other processes. In most cases simple, low cost but regular maintenance is the key, the delivery of which will always be reliant upon the help and goodwill of landowners.

PARKS AND GARDENS

Although a statutory list, the Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest in England in itself brings no additional statutory powers, it instead works through the development control system to provide a valuable tool for the protection of the sites it includes. The Government's National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) stresses the desirability of sustaining and enhancing the significance of all heritage assets and finding viable uses consistent with their conservation. The NPPF states that great weight must be given to the conservation of sites included on the Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest and that substantial harm or loss of such features can only be justified in exceptional cases.

A great many historic parks and gardens are either privately owned or in trust. In addition, local authorities are responsible for nearly all the public parks and cemeteries in our towns and cities. Registered parks and gardens are typically large, complex heritage assets, many in multiple ownership, and it can take years to identify and implement solutions to reduce the risks to parks and gardens.

To help reduce the risks, English Heritage encourages and works with owners to develop conservation management strategies. Landscape architects working in our Heritage at Risk teams can help tailor conservation management plans and funding packages for individual landscape features or whole sites. We work with partners, such as Natural England and the Heritage Lottery Fund, to help source funding to secure sustainable futures for parks and gardens at risk.

Further information and conservation guidance for parks, gardens and designed landscapes is available at: www.english-heritage.org.uk/professional/advice/advice-by-topic/parks-and-gardens.

BATTLEFIELDS

As with registered parks and gardens, the Register of Historic Battlefields brings no additional statutory controls to registered battlefields, but the National Planning Policy Framework makes it clear that registered battlefields are of equal significance to scheduled monuments, buildings listed grade I and II* registered parks and gardens and protected wreck sites. Therefore, the positive conservation and management of registered battlefields is a core element of current heritage legislation.

English Heritage continues to work with owners to develop management plans for registered battlefields and, in appropriate cases, contribute towards the cost of management plans. We work to develop positive landscape strategies with owners and partners such as Defra through Environmental Stewardship schemes. In some circumstances, we may encourage the conversion from arable to pasture of especially sensitive locations to protect battlefield archaeology from the effects of ploughing and as part of a wider drive to prevent unauthorised or damaging metal-detecting.

English Heritage also continues to encourage greater access to battlefields and improve their amenity value and visitors' understanding of the impact these historic events had on our development as a nation.

Local authorities can also invite comments from the Battlefields Trust on planning applications affecting the setting of registered battlefield sites.

WRECK SITES

At the strategic level, the major sources of risk to protected wreck sites have been identified. In terms of high-priority sites, practical requirements have also been implemented through conservation management plans and appropriate intervention.

Risks to protected historic wreck sites can often be reduced through education, provision of marker buoys, or planning policies that take full account of their national importance. However, some sites require significant resources to stabilise their condition or to carry out detailed archaeological assessments of their conservation requirements. Although English Heritage has statutory power to allocate funds to promote the preservation and maintenance of protected wreck sites, its financial resources can solve only a small proportion of the problems.

In spite of the inherent difficulties with caring for this type of site, careful management must be maintained if we are to avoid the loss of wreck sites. It is therefore close co-operation between the owners of protected wreck sites (where known), authorised divers and all organisations charged with care for the marine and coastal environment, that will make the real difference to their long-term survival.

Practical advice on the management of historic wreck sites, whether at the coast-edge or under water, is available from English Heritage (maritime@english-heritage.org.uk) and from www.helm.org.uk

CONSERVATION AREAS

The risks to conservation areas are difficult to address as these designated areas can constitute large areas of land; they include streets, spaces, archaeology and trees as well as buildings and structures and therefore involve many different owners and methods of management. Looking after conservation areas is a responsibility shared by those of us who own homes and businesses within them as well as those of us whose job it is to manage them or make decisions about their future.

The Conservation Areas Survey, completed by local authorities, provides us with an understanding of what is particularly affecting the character and appearance of conservation areas: what is working well or what is putting them at risk. Strong planning policies, guidance and a clear management strategy for individual conservation areas, backed up by effective enforcement, are all critical in managing change in these areas. This is, however, extremely difficult at a time when local authorities across the country are reducing their staff numbers. Armed with the information provided by conservation area surveys, we, local authorities and other partners will have the evidence to direct resources much more accurately towards those conservation areas at greatest risk.

There are opportunities for members of the local community to get involved with protecting and enhancing their conservation area, either individually or through groups. Some local groups have helped to prepare character appraisals and management plans for conservation areas whilst others have carried out their own assessments to identify management issues. Further information on how you can get involved is available at: www.english-heritage.org.uk/caring/get-involved/improve-your-neighbourhood.

Key statistics

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

- Nationally, 4.0% of grade I and II* listed buildings (excluding places of worship) are on the Register. In Yorkshire the percentage is 6.2% (99 listed secular buildings).
- 5 building or structure entries have been removed from the 2013 Yorkshire Register because their futures have been secured, and 8 have been added.
- 63.1% of buildings or structures (111) on the Yorkshire baseline 1999 Register have been removed because their futures have been secured, compared with the national figure of 59.4%.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

- Nationally, 6.0% of listed places of worship are on the Register. In Yorkshire, 7.1% (98) are on the Register.
- 18 places of worship have been removed from the Yorkshire Register following repair work, and 47 have been added.

ARCHAEOLOGY

- 3,012 (15.2%) of England's 19,833 scheduled monuments are on the Register. 515 (19.6%) of Yorkshire's 2,621 scheduled monuments are on the Register.
- 95 archaeology entries have been removed from the 2013 Yorkshire Register for positive reasons, and 14 have been added.
- 37.4% of archaeology entries (271) on the Yorkshire baseline 2009 Register have been removed for positive reasons, compared with the national figure of 29.2%.

- Nationally, damage from arable cultivation is the greatest cause of risk affecting 43% of archaeological entries on the Register. In Yorkshire the proportion is 60%.

PARKS AND GARDENS

- 93 (5.7%) of England's 1,628 registered parks and gardens are on the Register. Of the 120 registered parks and gardens in Yorkshire, 13 (10.8%) are on the Register.
- 1 park and garden entry has been removed from the 2013 Yorkshire Register for a positive reason.

BATTLEFIELDS

- Of the 46 registered battlefields in England, 6 (13.0%) are on the Register. Of the 7 registered battlefields in Yorkshire, 3 (42.9%) are on the Register.

WRECK SITES

- Of the 49 protected wreck sites around England's coast, 4 are on the Register. Yorkshire's single protected wreck site is not on the Register.

CONSERVATION AREAS

- 8,206 of England's 9,848 conservation areas have been surveyed by local authorities and 497 (6.1%) are on the Register. Of the 912 conservation areas in the Yorkshire, 858 have been surveyed and 61 (7.1%) are on the Register.
- 3 conservation areas have been removed from the 2013 Yorkshire Register for positive reasons, and 9 have been added.

ENGLISH HERITAGE FUNDING

- £892,000 in grant was spent on 67 entries on the Yorkshire Register during 2013/14.

Risk assessments of heritage assets are based on the nature of the site. Building and structure assessments include listed buildings (excluding listed places of worship) and structural scheduled monuments; archaeology assessments cover earthworks and buried archaeology.

Key to the entries

This Register includes the following risk assessment types

- Building or structure
(grade I and II* listed buildings and structural scheduled monuments)
- Place of worship
(grade I, II* and II listed buildings)
- Archaeology
(scheduled monuments – earthworks and buried archaeology)
- Park and garden
(Registered parks and gardens)
- Battlefield
(Registered battlefields)
- Conservation area
(Conservation areas)

ORDER

Entries are grouped and ordered alphabetically, first by County† (dark grey bands) or Unitary Authority (light grey bands), and then by Local Planning Authority (National Park/Unitary Authority/District or Borough).

A blank band denotes the end of a county and the beginning of a unitary authority.

Sites that straddle more than one local planning authority are included under the lead authority.

†The metropolitan counties of South Yorkshire and West Yorkshire are used to group the data. North Yorkshire is the only two tier planning authority in the region.

Within each planning authority, entries are grouped by risk assessment type in the following order:

- Buildings or structures
- Places of worship
- Archaeology
- Parks and gardens
- Battlefields
- Conservation areas

Within each risk assessment type, entries are ordered alphabetically by parish, locality and street/site name (except for conservation areas which are ordered by site name only).

DESIGNATION

The principal designation is noted for each entry and includes:

- Listed Building (LB) grade I or II*
- Listed Place of Worship grade I, II* or II
- Scheduled Monument (SM)
- Registered Park and Garden (RPG) grade I, II* or II
- Registered Battlefield
- Conservation Area (CA)

Other designations that apply to the designated site, including location within a World Heritage Site (WHS), are also noted.

If an entry is dual designated (both listed and scheduled), 'and' rather than a comma is used (eg 'Scheduled Monument and Listed Building grade I'). If a scheduled monument entry is dual designated with a number of listed buildings, each is separated by a semicolon.

The National Heritage List Entry Number is included for all entries (except conservation areas). If a site is dual designated, all relevant List Entry Numbers are noted.

CONDITION

For buildings (including places of worship), condition is graded as: 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' and 'good'.

For sites that cover areas (scheduled monuments (archaeology assessments), parks and gardens and battlefields) one overall condition category is recorded. The category may relate only to the part of the site or monument that is at risk and not the whole site:

- extensive significant problems
- generally unsatisfactory with major localised problems
- generally satisfactory but with significant localised problems
- generally satisfactory but with minor localised problems
- optimal
- unknown (noted for a number of scheduled monuments that are below-ground and where their condition cannot be established).

For conservation areas, condition is categorised as: 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' and 'optimal'.

If a site has suffered from heritage crime it is noted in the summary. Heritage crime is defined as any offence which harms the heritage asset or its setting and includes arson, graffiti, lead theft and vandalism.

OCCUPANCY/USE

For buildings (excluding places of worship) that can be occupied or have a use, the main vulnerability is vacancy or under-use. Occupancy (or use) is noted as follows:

- vacant
- part occupied
- occupied
- unknown
- not applicable

VULNERABILITY

Principal vulnerability is noted for archaeology assessments and may relate only to the part of the site that is at risk, and include:

- animal burrowing
- arable ploughing
- coastal erosion
- collapse
- deterioration – in need of management
- scrub/tree growth
- visitor erosion

For parks and gardens, battlefields and conservation areas, vulnerability is noted as high, medium or low.

PRIORITY CATEGORY

Priority for action is assessed on a scale of A to F, where 'A' is the highest priority for a site which is deteriorating rapidly with no solution to secure its future, and 'F' is the lowest priority.

For buildings and structures and places of worship the following priority categories are used as an indication of trend and as a means of prioritising action:

- A Immediate risk of further rapid deterioration or loss of fabric; no solution agreed
- B Immediate risk of further rapid deterioration or loss of fabric; solution agreed but not yet implemented
- C Slow decay; no solution agreed
- D Slow decay; solution agreed but not yet implemented
- E Under repair or in fair to good repair, but no user identified; or under threat of vacancy with no obvious new user (applicable only to buildings capable of beneficial use)
- F Repair scheme in progress and (where applicable) end use or user identified; functionally redundant buildings with new use agreed but not yet implemented.

For battlefields, the following priority categories are used as a means of prioritising action:

- A No action/strategy identified or agreed (where trend is declining or unknown)
- B Action/strategy agreed but not yet implemented (where trend is declining or unknown)
- C No action/strategy identified or agreed (where trend is stable or improving)
- D Action/strategy agreed but not yet implemented (where trend is stable or improving)
- E Monitoring as appropriate (any trend)
- F Action implemented/strategy underway/scheme in progress (any trend)

2013 priority categories are given in brackets, otherwise 'New entry' is noted.

'New entry – re-assessed' indicates an existing site on the Register that has been re-assessed using a different risk assessment methodology and is included on this year's Register under the new assessment type.

TREND

Trend for archaeology entries, parks and gardens and battlefields may relate only to the part of the site that is at risk and is categorised as:

- declining
- stable
- improving
- unknown

For conservation areas trend is categorised as:

- deteriorating
- deteriorating significantly
- no significant change
- improving
- improving significantly
- unknown

OWNERSHIP

A principal ownership category is given for each entry, and if sites are in divided ownership, a 'multiple' ownership category is noted.

CONTACT

This is the member of the English Heritage local team who acts as a first point of contact for the case, and to whom enquiries should be addressed.

For conservation areas, the contact is the conservation/planning officer at the relevant local planning authority (indicated by 'LPA').

We are not in any sense agents for the owners of the sites included, but we will endeavour to put people in touch with them where appropriate.

LIST ENTRY NUMBER: 1083214

Boat hoist of c1862 invented by WH Bartholomew to transfer coal from canal compartment boats, known locally as 'Tom Puddings', into seagoing vessels. The compartment boats were raised hydraulically and tipped to empty their contents down a chute and into the hold of the waiting vessel. There were originally five of these hoists, which were peculiar to Goole; this is the last remaining example. Refurbishment works were carried out in the late 1990s but the condition of the structure has since deteriorated.

Built to the designs of John Earle in 1829, altered and enlarged by JJ Scholes in 1835. Further enlarged between 1894 and 1900 by Smith, Brodrick and Lowther. Roofs and rainwater goods are in poor condition which has led to water ingress that has damaged internal plasterwork and decorations. Some windows and stucco also in poor condition. Repairs are underway with the support of a Heritage Lottery Fund grant.

SITE NAME:	The Grimsby Ice Factory, Gorton Street, Grimsby	Ice production works dating from 1900-1910 with later additions and alterations. The Ice Factory served the Grimsby fishing fleet, facilitating its development and international renown during the C20. The Factory closed in 1990. It is thought that this is the earliest surviving ice factory in Britain, and the sole survivor from this period to retain its machinery. The loss of roof coverings and the security of openings are of particular concern. The interior, including extensive wooden floors and machinery, has been exposed to increasing levels of weather damage and bird infestation.

HARROGATE

© English Heritage

SITE NAME:	Church of St Mary, Harlow Terrace, Harrogate
DESIGNATION:	Listed Building grade II*, CA
CONDITION:	Poor
OCCUPANCY:	Vacant/not in use
PRIORITY CATEGORY:	C (F)
OWNER TYPE:	Commercial company

LIST ENTRY NUMBER: 1149482

Former church built circa 1916 by Sir Walter Tapper. Deterioration of the stone has occurred from an early date. There is evidence that the mineral felt to the aisle roofs is leaking. Proposals to convert the church to a new use are under consideration.

CONDITION:	Poor
OCCUPANCY:	Part occupied/part in use
PRIORITY CATEGORY:	A (A)
OWNER TYPE:	Private

LIST ENTRY NUMBER: 1132066

Coach house with bee hives. Mid C18 and C16. The rear hall of the coach house is settling and the end return of the bee hives is failing. There are structural cracks to the right hand return and rear, and some of the copings are missing from the rear gable. Pointing is failing to cut stone on facades leaving some stone loose.

SITE NAME:	Plumpton Rocks, Plompton	Mid C18 pleasure grounds laid out with advice from John Carr as the grounds for a country house built within a pre-existing park of C16 origin. Painted by JMW Turner in 1798. Landscape designed around an artificial lake contained by dam, probably designed by John Carr. Lake surrounded by picturesque sandstone outcrops frequently surmounted by trees. Progressive silting of lake and regeneration of trees and shrubs is severely compromising the historic views within the site and the relationships of planting, rocks and lake. Natural England Higher Level Stewardship agreement in place.

LIST ENTRY NUMBER:	1148444

Medieval parish church, from C12 to C16 with east end restored by Anthony Salvin in 1857. Magnesian limestone masonry is very badly eroded to clerestories, east and west windows and spiral stair to the belfry. Localised defects to glazing, rainwater goods and south aisle roof. Heritage Lottery Fund project development funding has been offered under the Grants for Places of Worship scheme.

DESIGNATION:	Listed Place of Worship grade I
CONDITION:	Poor
PRIORITY CATEGORY:	D (New entry)
OWNER TYPE:	Religious organisation
LIST ENTRY NUMBER:	1174776

Medieval church incorporating early C13 arcade to the south aisle. Although the earliest extant fabric dates to C13, the church is probably of earlier origin. Constructed from magnesian limestone which is susceptible to weathering. Areas of the masonry, particularly to the south porch, are severely decayed, parapet gutters are defective and allowing water into the building and the vestry roof is in poor condition. Movement also appears to be affecting the porch and chancel. Heritage Lottery Fund project development funding has been offered under the Grants for Places of Worship scheme.

A fortified Manor House built in 1459 for James Metcalf. A wing was added in C17. Most of the medieval portion has not been occupied for some years. There has recently been a change in ownership and some repairs have been carried out. However, the floors in the west tower are still in a rotten and dangerous state and the roof coverings over the great hall and the south east wing are in very poor condition. Discussions are underway regarding repair and reuse.

Worsted mill built between 1866 and 1877 for J&J Craven. The site comprises three multi-storey mills: Tower Mill, Genappe Mill and New Mill. There are also several ancillary buildings, an elaborate chimney and intact surviving machinery. The site was acquired by a new owner early in 2014 who has begun to implement a programme of phased repair and refurbishment to create a mixed commercial development. Tower Mill is occupied and in fair condition, Genappe Mill is in poor condition but is currently undergoing repair, New Mill and the building linking it to Genappe Mill are in very poor condition.

OWNER TYPE:	Religious organisation
LIST ENTRY NUMBER:	1313775

Church of 1763 to 1766 in the classical style, based on the design for the Church of the Holy Trinity, Leeds. The building incorporates a nave with massive composite columns and horseshoe gallery, north organ chamber and vestry, apsidal sanctuary and three-stage west tower. The finely decorated interior is particularly noteworthy and includes Royal Arms dated 1766 flanked by four cartouches with coats of arms by Guiseppe Cortese, the Ten Commandments and relief figures of Moses and Jesus. Water ingress is causing damage to the finishes and decorations.

Country house now partly subdivided into flats, situated in late C17 to C18 walled gardens with terraces to south and west, grass terraces to the east and an early C18 park to the north. Five periods of building starting in c1200 with chapel and kitchen. Landscape condition is generally fair to good. A conservation plan and strategic plan have been completed for the estate and discussions are ongoing about future long-term uses. A programme of priority repairs has been identified.

Originally known as Harehills Grove, this classical mansion was constructed in the early C19 for a local wool merchant. It was sold to the Leeds Corporation at the turn of the century and remained in educational use until 2006 when it was purchased for use as a Sikh Gurdwara. It is currently in poor condition due to extensive high level water ingress. Heritage Lottery Fund project development funding has been offered under the Grants for Places of Worship scheme.

Built in the Early English style to designs by RD Chantrell, this mid-C19 church was constructed on land conveyed by the local mine owner and local miners reputedly contributed a week's earnings or a week's unpaid labour to help with its construction. It survives much as originally built with the exception of the spire, which was taken down in 1939 due to subsidence. The west gable wall is in poor structural condition, masonry and roofs are also in poor condition.
