THE REGISTER

The Heritage at Risk Register includes historic buildings and sites at risk of being lost through neglect, decay or deterioration.

It includes all types of designated heritage assets, including Conservation Areas, which are designated and assessed by Local Planning Authorities.

The aim of the Register is to focus attention on those places in greatest need. Historic England, in partnership with others, is able to help tackle heritage at risk. We work with owners, friends groups, developers and other stakeholders to find imaginative solutions for historic places and sites at risk across England.

More information about our role, the advice and funding available, and useful publications and guidance is available on our website.

Criteria for inclusion on the Register

RISK ASSESSMENTS

Heritage assets included on the Register are assessed according to the nature of the site. The risk assessment methodologies outlined below are based on factors which can threaten the different types of heritage assets and lead to them becoming at risk.

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

To be considered for inclusion on the Register, buildings or structures must be:

- listed on the National Heritage List for England; and
- in secular (non-worship) use.

And either:
- a grade I or II* listed building, or
- a grade II listed building in London, or
- a structural scheduled monument with upstanding remains.

Buildings or structures are assessed on the basis of condition and, where applicable, occupancy (or use) reflecting the fact that a building which is occupied is generally less vulnerable than one that is not.

Occupancy (or use) is assessed as ‘vacant’, ‘part-occupied’, ‘occupied’, ‘not applicable’, or occasionally, ‘unknown’.

Many structures fall into the ‘not applicable’ category, for example: ruins, walls, gates, headstones or boundary stones.

Condition is assessed as ‘very bad’, ‘poor’, ‘fair’ or ‘good’. The condition of buildings or structures on the Register is typically very bad or poor, but can be fair or, very occasionally, good. This reflects the fact that some buildings or structures are vulnerable because they are empty, underused or face redundancy without a new use to secure their future. Assessing vulnerability in the case of buildings in fair condition necessarily involves judgement and discretion. A few buildings remain on the Register in good condition, having been repaired or mothballed, but still awaiting a new use or occupancy.

Buildings or structures are removed from the Register when they are fully repaired/consolidated, and their future secured either through occupation and use, or through the adoption of appropriate management.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

To be considered for inclusion on the Register, places of worship must be listed grade I, grade II* or grade II on the National Heritage List for England, and be used as a public place of worship at least six times a year.

Places of worship are assessed on the basis of condition only. If a place of worship is in very bad or poor condition, it is added to the Register. This includes places of worship which are generally in fair or good condition but have major problems with one key element, like the tower.

Once on the Register, places of worship can move through the condition categories (e.g. from very bad to poor; to fair; even good) as repairs are implemented and the condition improves, until they are fully repaired and can be removed from the Register. This means that there are some places of worship in good condition on the Register but with outstanding issues still to be resolved at the time when they were assessed.

ARCHAEOLOGY

To be considered for inclusion on the Register, archaeological sites must be listed as scheduled monuments and included on the National Heritage List for England.

Archaeology assessments cover scheduled earthworks and buried archaeology.
The risk assessment is based on their condition and vulnerability, the trend in their condition, and their likely future vulnerability. A site’s condition is expressed in terms of the scale and severity of adverse effects on it, ranging from ‘extensive significant problems’ to ‘minor localised problems’.

Archaeological entries are removed from the Register once sufficient progress has been made to address the identified issues, and a significant reduction in the level of risk has been demonstrated.

PARKS AND GARDENS

To be considered for inclusion on the Register, parks and gardens must be listed as grade I, grade II* or grade II and included on the National Heritage List for England. Parks and gardens are assessed in terms of condition and vulnerability. Steps being taken by owners to address problems are also taken into consideration.

Parks and gardens assessed as being at risk are typically affected by development and neglect. They have frequently been altered by development or are faced with major change. The original function of these landscapes has often changed and divided ownership leads to the loss of their cohesive historic design.

Park and garden entries are removed from the Register once steps have been taken to address issues and positive progress is being made.

BATTLEFIELDS

To be considered for inclusion on the Register, battlefields must be listed and included on the National Heritage List for England. Battlefields deemed to be at risk of loss of cultural significance are included on the Register.

The principal risks and threats are:
- development pressure e.g. encroachment of buildings;
- pressures of particular use within the site e.g. arable cultivation;
- damage e.g. unregulated metal detecting.

Battlefields are removed from the Register either when damaging activities cease/are managed, or when threats recede due to effective planning.

WRECK SITES

To be considered for inclusion on the Register, wrecks must be listed and included on the National Heritage List for England.

Wreck sites are assessed based on their current condition, vulnerability and the way they are being managed.

Wrecks are vulnerable to both environmental and human impacts. Risks that contribute to inclusion on the Register range from unauthorised use to erosion and fishing damage. The monitoring process ensures that the significance of the site is identified and maintained. In spite of the inherent difficulties in caring for this type of site, careful management must be maintained.

Wrecks are removed from the Register once an appropriate management and monitoring regime is operational.

CONSERVATION AREAS

Once a year Historic England asks every local authority in England to consider the state of its conservation areas and fill in (and update as appropriate) risk assessment questionnaires for those that cause concern, or are believed to no longer be at risk.

Conservation areas that are deteriorating, or are in very bad or poor condition and not expected to change significantly in the next three years, are defined as being at risk.

The approach taken to assess conservation areas at risk has been refined since the first survey in 2008/2009. An overall category for condition, vulnerability and trend is included for each conservation area on the Heritage at Risk Register. Conservation areas identified as at risk in 2009, but not reassessed since using the revised methodology, are included on the Register but with limited information.

Conservation areas are removed from the Register once plans have been put in place to address the issues that led to the conservation area being at risk, and once positive progress is being made.
Key statistics

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

- Nationally, 748 (3.3%) of grade I and II* listed buildings (excluding places of worship) are on the Register. In the North East and Yorkshire the percentage is 5.3% (133 listed secular buildings).

- 9 building or structure entries have been removed from the 2018 North East and Yorkshire Register because their futures have been secured, and 4 have been added.

- 69.4% of buildings or structures (202) on the North East and Yorkshire baseline 1999 Register have been removed because their futures have been secured compared to the national figure of 65.3%.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

- Nationally, 6.2% of listed places of worship are on the Register. In the North East and Yorkshire, 5.2% (93) are on the Register.

- 20 places of worship have been removed from the North East and Yorkshire Register following repair work, and 2 have been added.

ARCHAEOLOGY

- 2,412 (12.1%) of England’s 19,861 scheduled monuments are on the Register. 491 (12.3%) of the North East and Yorkshire’s 3,984 scheduled monuments are on the Register.

- 52 archaeology entries have been removed from the 2018 North East and Yorkshire Register for positive reasons, and 17 have been added.

- 60.3% of archaeology entries (539) on the North East and Yorkshire baseline 2009 Register have been removed for positive reasons, compared to the national figure of 50.2%.

- Nationally, damage from arable cultivation is the greatest cause of risk affecting 37.6% of archaeological entries on the Register. In the North East and Yorkshire it is also the greatest risk, and the proportion of archaeological entries it affects is 37.3%.

PARKS AND GARDENS

- 102 (6.1%) of England’s 1,669 registered parks and gardens are on the Register. Of the 180 registered parks and gardens in the North East and Yorkshire, 18 (10%) are on the Register.

- No park and garden entries were added to or removed from the 2018 North East and Yorkshire Register.

BATTLEFIELDS

- Of the 47 registered battlefields in England, 3 (6.4%) are on the Register. Of the 13 registered battlefields in the North East and Yorkshire, 3 (23.1%) are on the Register.

WRECK SITES

- Of the 53 protected wreck sites around England’s coast, 3 (5.7%) are on the Register. The North East and Yorkshire’s three protected wreck sites are not on the Register.

CONSERVATION AREAS

- There are currently 501 Conservation Areas on the Heritage at Risk Register. Of these 86 are in the North East and Yorkshire.

- I conservation area has been removed from the 2018 North East and Yorkshire Register for positive reasons, and 3 have been added.

HISTORIC ENGLAND FUNDING

- £1.02 million in grant was spent on 50 entries on the North East and Yorkshire Register during 2018/19.

Risk assessments of heritage assets are based on the nature of the site. Buildings and structures include listed buildings (excluding listed places of worship) and structural scheduled monuments; archaeology assessments cover earthworks and buried archaeology.
Key to the entries

The Register includes the following risk assessment types:

- Building or structure
  - (grade I and II* listed buildings, grade II listed buildings in London and structural scheduled monuments)
- Place of worship
  - (grade I, II* and II listed buildings)
- Archaeology
  - (scheduled monuments – earthworks and buried archaeology)
- Park and garden
  - (Registered parks and gardens)
- Battlefield
  - (Registered battlefields)
- Wreck site
  - (Protected wreck sites)
- Conservation area
  - (Conservation areas)

Details are given here for all risk assessment types even if entries are not present in the Regional Register.

ORDER

Entries are grouped and ordered alphabetically, first by County (dark grey bands) or Unitary Authority (light grey bands), and then by Local Planning Authority (National Park/Unitary Authority/District or Borough).

A blank band denotes the end of a county and the beginning of a unitary authority.

Sites that straddle more than one local planning authority are included under the lead authority.

Within each planning authority, entries are grouped by risk assessment type in the following order:

- Buildings or structures
- Places of worship
- Archaeology
- Parks and gardens
- Battlefields
- Wreck sites
- Conservation areas

Within each risk assessment type, entries are ordered alphabetically by parish, locality and street/site name (except for conservation areas and protected wreck sites which are ordered by site name only).

LISTING

The principal listing type is noted for each entry and includes:

- Listed Building (LB) grade I or II*
- Listed Place of Worship grade I, II* or II
- Scheduled Monument (SM)
- Registered Park and Garden (RPG) grade I, II* or II
- Registered Battlefield (RB)
- Protected Wreck Site (PWS)
- Conservation Area (CA)

Other listing types that apply to a given site, including location within a World Heritage Site (WHS), are also noted.

If an entry is a dual list entry (both listed and scheduled), ‘and’ rather than a comma is used (eg ‘Scheduled Monument and Listed Building grade I’).

If a scheduled monument entry is a dual list entry with a number of listed buildings, each is separated by a semicolon.

The National Heritage List Entry Number is included for all entries (except conservation areas). If a site has dual list entries, all relevant List Entry Numbers are noted.

CONDITION

For buildings (including places of worship), condition is graded as: 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' and 'good'.

For sites that cover areas (scheduled monuments – archaeology assessments, parks and gardens, battlefields and wreck sites) one overall condition category is recorded. The category may relate only to the part of the site or monument that is at risk and not the whole site:

- extensive significant problems
- generally unsatisfactory with major localised problems
- generally satisfactory but with significant localised problems
- generally satisfactory but with minor localised problems
- optimal
- unknown (noted for a number of scheduled monuments that are below-ground and where their condition cannot be established)

For conservation areas, condition is categorised as: 'very bad', 'poor', 'fair' and 'optimal'.

If a site has suffered from heritage crime it is noted in the summary. Heritage crime is defined as any offence which harms the heritage asset or its setting and includes arson, graffiti, lead theft and vandalism.

OCCUPANCY/USE

For buildings (excluding places of worship) that can be occupied or have a use, the main vulnerability is vacancy or under-use. Occupancy (or use) is noted as follows:

- vacant
- part occupied
- occupied
- unknown
- not applicable
VULNERABILITY

Principal vulnerability is noted for archaeology assessments and may relate only to the part of the site that is at risk, and include:

- animal burrowing
- arable ploughing
- coastal erosion
- collapse
- deterioration – in need of management
- scrub/tree growth
- visitor erosion

For parks and gardens, battlefields, wreck sites and conservation areas, vulnerability is noted as high, medium or low.

PRIORITY CATEGORY

Priority for action is assessed on a scale of A to F, where ‘A’ is the highest priority for a site which is deteriorating rapidly with no solution to secure its future, and ‘F’ is the lowest priority.

For buildings and structures and places of worship the following priority categories are used as an indication of trend and as a means of prioritising action:

A Immediate risk of further rapid deterioration or loss of fabric; no solution agreed
B Immediate risk of further rapid deterioration or loss of fabric; solution agreed but not yet implemented
C Slow decay; no solution agreed
D Slow decay; solution agreed but not yet implemented
E Under repair or in fair to good repair, but no user identified; or under threat of vacancy with no obvious new user (applicable only to buildings capable of beneficial use)
F Repair scheme in progress and (where applicable) end use or user identified; or functionally redundant buildings with new use agreed but not yet implemented

For battlefields and wreck sites the following priority categories are used as a means of prioritising action:

A No action/strategy identified or agreed (where trend is declining or unknown)
B Action/strategy agreed but not yet implemented (where trend is declining or unknown)
C No action/strategy identified or agreed (where trend is stable or improving)
D Action/strategy agreed but not yet implemented (where trend is stable or improving)
E Monitoring as appropriate (any trend)
F Action implemented/strategy underway/scheme in progress (any trend)

Previous year priority categories are given in brackets, otherwise ‘New entry’ is noted.

‘New entry – re-assessed’ indicates an existing site on the Register that has been re-assessed using a different risk assessment methodology and is included on this year’s Register under the new assessment type.

TREND

Trend for archaeology entries, parks and gardens, battlefields and wreck sites may relate only to the part of the site that is at risk and is categorised as:

- declining
- stable
- improving
- unknown

For conservation areas trend is categorised as:

- deteriorating
- deteriorating significantly
- no significant change
- improving
- improving significantly
- unknown

OWNERSHIP

A principal ownership category is given for each entry, and if sites are in divided ownership, a ‘multiple’ ownership category is noted.

CONTACT

This is the member of the Historic England local team who acts as a first point of contact for the case, and to whom enquiries should be addressed.

For conservation areas, the contact is the conservation/planning officer at the relevant local planning authority (indicated by ‘LPA’).

We are not in any sense agents for the owners of the sites included, but we will endeavour to put people in touch with them where appropriate.

Brancepeth Castle is a medieval fortress that was greatly enlarged in the C19 by architects John Paterson and (later) Anthony Salvin. It was occupied by the army during World War II and then by glassware makers, J A Joblings. Parts of the building are currently occupied while others are used for events and other activities. Some urgent repairs have been completed in recent years, including major works in 2018 with Historic England funding. Further repairs are being planned. Options for developing the site’s business potential are also being explored.

C18-C19 lines of brick-built coke ovens. Many bricks have been dislodged by livestock sheltering within the ovens. Livestock has also eroded the grassy banks between each oven and established tree growth occurs along the entire structure.

Medieval former church with nave dating back to late C11 and chancel to late C12. Altered in later centuries but Norman south doorway contains the original door with iron hinges. On the Croxdale Estate and rarely opened up. There is severe damp in the building, both rising damp in the floors and walls and penetrating damp over the chancel arch.

Part of a planned farm, constructed 1851-2 to designs by Joseph Hansom. Of three storeys, the main range is built into the banksise so that the lower two floors have ground level access. Two attached side wings and a projecting central bay create an E-shaped plan. Many original internal features survive. There is general deterioration to most external elements, including missing or displaced verge stones to some gable ends, defective rainwater goods and cracking to masonry walls. Many areas of slipped or displaced roof slates are allowing the ingress of rainwater.

Former Roman Catholic junior seminary chapel of 1857-59 by Edward W Pugin in the Gothic Revival style. Temporary urgent repairs were undertaken at the end of 2015 to stop significant water ingress caused by heritage crime. Discussions are in progress to define an economically viable strategy for the site as a whole and to ensure the early completion of a substantive phase of permanent repairs to the chapel.

This late-medieval bastle has random rubble walls over one metre thick and a tunnel vault on the first floor. The original doorway in the west wall has a chamfered surround with drawbar holes. The upper storey appears to have been rebuilt in the C16 or C17 and incorporates a dovecote with five stone alighting ledges in the north gable. The Welsh slate roof is in poor condition and has a hole caused by the adjacent ash tree rubbing on it.

A series of standing and buried remains of one of four mine shafts in the East Allen valley. The shaft, 70 metres deep, was dug in 1855. The tower base enclosing the shaft, the engine bed and wheel pit (grade II listed) is being damaged by tree roots. Parts of the wheel pit collapsed in 2011. A broad repair solution has been agreed, and a Management Plan prepared, with support from Natural England. Funding has yet to be identified for the necessary works.

The east gate of the former town wall, built circa 1450 by the second Earl of Northumberland. Consists of a recessed central portal between two projecting semi-octagonal towers. The main defects relate to damage from high-sided vehicles passing through the central portal. Further impact of a similar nature could cause a serious collapse.

The first colliery shaft was sunk in 1894. Production stopped in 1981 and the site opened as a museum in 1989. Repairs were completed to the east shaft head gear and enclosing structure in 2014. Significant corrosion has reappeared and the enclosing structure is leaking. The roof to the adjoining Walker Fan House is also leaking and the steelwork to the west shaft head gear is corroding and in need of repair. Discussions are underway about a prioritised programme of repair and maintenance works to the site as a whole. Historic England has provided a digital baseline record of the site.

The site includes the standing and buried remains of a post-medieval pottery. The two bottle kilns were repaired through a Historic England Repair Grant in 2016. The remainder of the site has suffered from a lack of long-term maintenance and several of the buildings are in a poor condition. Following a recent change in ownership, there have been positive initiatives to improve the management of the site.

Remains of a medieval single-span bridge of early-C16 date, spanning the River Till near Twizel Castle. The bridge retains its medieval appearance and character and has been the subject of some repairs, probably in the C18, but no major strengthening works. It was by-passed by a modern road bridge to the south in the 1980s. The eastern abutment is leaning to south and has structural issues. In 2017-18 conservation re-pointing was done to the arch, parapets & abutments. Works to repair the leaning eastern abutments has not yet progressed.

The present building incorporates the remains of a medieval tower house which continued to be developed and added to into the C19. Much of the C19 structure was demolished and the building, which was once five storeys high, now stands to three storeys. The site has been subject to longstanding lack of regular maintenance. It shows signs of structural instability, including substantial vertical cracks around many of the arches and window openings. A measured survey has been completed.

Originally a C14 quadrilateral castle with four corner towers, converted to a mansion in 1694 and further altered in 1761 (for John Hussey Delaval) and 1862 (for the Marchioness of Waterford). Now used for residential courses and as a venue for functions. A number of repairs have been undertaken to address the areas most affected by rainwater ingress, but further work is required. A programme of repairs is in progress.

Monument including above and below ground remains of Ford Colliery. The colliery worked from at least the middle of the C17 through to 1919. The site includes the engine house chimney which was repaired in 2008-9. A condition survey has been prepared for the engine house and pit head. A programme of archaeological recording and borehole investigations has informed the preparation of a full repair scheme, funded by Historic England. The repair scheme now needs to be implemented to enable public access to these structures.

Remains of an early-C18 park and garden, partially restored in the 1950s-60s. The house and landscape designs are attributed to Sir John Vanbrugh in 1719. The approach avenue is deteriorating and woodland regeneration is concealing key landscape features, including earthworks and the mausoleum. Ha-ha walls and corner bastions are being damaged by scrub and tree growth, with areas of partial collapse. A Conservation Management Plan has been produced. The site was awarded a National Lottery Heritage Fund grant in 2016 and major conservation and repair works are now in progress.

Sections of unconsolidated Hadrian’s Wall in Wall Miles 43, 44 and 45. Issues lie with a short section of the Wall above Walltown quarry and the remains of Wall turret 44b. Initial inspections suggest limited consolidation and capping works would address the management issues, and initial discussions have taken place with Newcastle University about undertaking these using volunteers as part of a Lottery-funded community project.

Dovecote, probably medieval. Disused and requires roof repairs, repointing and removal of vegetation from walls. These works along with internal clearance of debris and lime washing of external stonework have been granted Listed Building Consent in May 2019 and are part of a wider scheme for the residential conversion of the farmstead.

St Cuthbert's is one of the most important churches in the Early English style of Gothic architecture in the north of England. The nave, transepts and chancel are housed beneath steeply pitched roofs whose covering is affected by significant problems. The building is becoming increasingly difficult to maintain in a weathertight condition. A first phase of roof repairs was undertaken in 2016, followed by a second phase in 2018. Both phases were made possible with funding from the National Lottery Heritage Fund Grants for Places of Worship scheme. Further works are being planned.

Built (1887-88) in red brick in the Early English style by eminent C19 church architect JL Pearson. The stained glass and interior fittings were removed soon after closure in 1986. The church then suffered a fire before being acquired by significant problems. The building is becoming increasingly difficult to maintain in a weathertight condition. A first phase of roof repairs was undertaken in 2016, followed by a second phase in 2018. Both phases were made possible with funding from the National Lottery Heritage Fund Grants for Places of Worship scheme. Further works are being planned.

DESCRIPTION: Designed in 1850 by the architect JA Hansom, St Mary’s church has a west tower (from which a spire was removed c1945) and a bowed apsidal chancel. The external limestone walls are displaying numerous problems, including multiple vertical fractures at the west end of the building, some pockets of deep erosion, open joints, internal powdering and inappropriate cement repairs which are failing. Funding is being pursued as part of a site-wide strategy that includes the repair of the adjoining Presbytery and a neighbouring property.

LIST ENTRY NUMBER: 1263355

The church includes many Saxon and medieval architectural fragments and has undergone several re-designs, being fully restored between 1925 and 1932. It is on an exposed site near the sea. The tower has structural issues that are under investigation and many windows require repair. The building has been the subject of heritage crime. Red Barns was commissioned and built in the mid nineteenth century as the family home of the Bell’s (Sir Hugh Bell). It was designed by Philip Webb a member of William Morris and Partners. A blue plaque on the wall of Red Barns honours Gertrude Bell (daughter of Sir Hugh) the archaeologist, writer and traveller. The building is vacant and deteriorating due to a lack of regular maintenance. Planning permission has been granted for the conversion and reuse of part of the building.

A three-storey presbytery, attached to the south-east corner of St Michael’s church, with a gabled front, stone walls and slated roofs. The building has not been actively used for some time. Many of the external building elements are deteriorating and in need of a comprehensive programme of repairs. Discussions are underway to find a new use for the building.

All Saints was built between 1786-96 to replace a medieval church on the same site. Classical in style, with a landmark spire, it was closed by the Church of England in 1961. The building was subsequently occupied as an urban studies centre and concert venue before being temporarily used for worship by a faith group. Some repairs have been undertaken, but further works are required. The building has been subject to heritage crime. A new faith group is standing by to occupy the building and bring it back to life. A repair grant application has been submitted to Historic England.

Parish church of 1859-61, by AB Higham, constructed of squared sandstone with ashlar dressings and Welsh slate roofs. The roofs are coming to the end of their life and water ingress is damaging internal plaster work. Completed in 1890 to designs by Oliver & Leeson, St Luke’s has a short nave with south porch, paired transepts and a chancel with north vestry and south chapel. It is constructed of red brick with steeply pitched roofs of Welsh slate, stone window surrounds and a west belfry. A scheme of external repairs was completed in 2014. Proposals for the repair of the interior are being developed to enable the main body of the church to be brought back into use for worship. Whilst these proposals develop, the adjoining parish hall is temporarily being used for worship.

Built in 1877 by the local architect RJ Johnson, with a striking west tower added in 1895 by Hicks & Charlewood. The church has sandstone walls and a roof of plain clay tiles. The interior is tall and spacious with double aisles on either side of the nave. Funding, through the National Lottery Heritage Fund and Historic England Repair Grants for Places of Worship scheme, enabled the completion of repairs to the nave and chancel roofs, and rainwater pipes, in 2014. A phased programme of work is being developed to address issues affecting the external stonework.

A burial board cemetery of 1857 where the twinned northern entrance lodges and ornate joining arch (all listed grade II) are derelict and subsiding, the latter permanently propped. The chapels (grade II) are unused and fenced off although in fair condition. Boundary walls are subsiding. Many monuments are in poor condition, including the Mather Tomb (grade II), which is also fenced-off to prevent further damage. Terraces and steps on Misher Hill are in poor condition and overgrown.

One of the earliest garden cemeteries in England (1829) and the earliest in the North East. Despite having lost its chapel, and the original layout being obscured by vegetation, the character of the site remains legible. The remaining monuments are of a style particular to early cemeteries and many have been damaged through weathering, vandalism and ivy growth. Invasive weeds and scrub, along with vandalism, anti-social behaviour and minimal management, risks the loss of further legibility and fabric. A conservation management plan is now in place for the site.

The Battle of Newburn Ford (1640) was the only battle of the Second Bishops’ War. The Scottish Army took Newcastle by defeating the English at this river crossing. The Scottish campaign forced Charles I to raise an army against them and, after the loss of Newcastle, to pay them off. This expense meant Charles had to recall Parliament, which proved to be a critical step towards the English Civil War. The battlefield has been subject to piecemeal, peripheral development but an outline action plan has been agreed between Historic England, the local authorities and the Battlefields Trust.

Massive C19 industrial kilns, of two types, which were in poor condition and in urgent need of repair. Following completion of project development work, urgent repairs have begun part-funded by Historic England. This outstanding repair work has now stalled due to the previous owners going into administration in autumn 2017.

‘F’ Pit was sunk in 1777 but the engine house wasn’t built until 1926. The pit closed in 1968 and the site was cleared, apart from the engine house. Representing a fine example of the winding technology used in the north east coalfield, the building re-opened as a museum in 1976. The museum continues to open to limited, seasonal, hours. However, the future of the building is uncertain and there has been no progress in preparing a condition survey.

Description: A large red brick church of 1888-90 by the prolific ecclesiastical architect Charles Hodgson Fowler. Italianate in style, it contains a complete scheme of interior decoration by the artist James Eadie-Reid, including a series of wall paintings. The paintings are starting to deteriorate due to water penetration and dampness caused, in part, by defective rainwater gutters and pipes and by the absence of an efficient internal heating system. Description: Designed by John and Benjamin Green of Newcastle, Holy Trinity church was built in 1831-2. It consists of a wide aisleless nave with a bellcote over the west gable and a chancel with a south lean-to vestry. The slated roof coverings over the nave are showing significant signs that they are reaching the end of their serviceable life, with many areas of slipped and patched slating. There has been some water leakage internally. An unsuccessful funding bid for repairs was submitted in 2017 through the National Lottery Heritage Fund Grants for Places of Worship scheme.

A small church, incorporating medieval fabric, but restored and rebuilt in 1853, apparently by Miss Sykes of Sledmere House. It has an outstanding Norman font. The church is unusually located in a farmyard. The roofs are in poor condition and the stonework is deteriorating.

Contact: Giles Proctor 01904 601981

Medieval village church, associated with the Pilgrimage of Grace (1536). Generally in good condition, but with some structural movement to the top of the tower.

Contact: Giles Proctor 01904 601981

A small medieval church, extensively rebuilt in 1845 by GT Andrews. The calcareous sandstone of the walls is eroding and the roof is in poor condition.

Contact: Giles Proctor 01904 601981

An early Victorian church, dominating the skyline of Goole. The stonework to the upper part of the central tower is eroding and the roofs are in poor condition.

Contact: Giles Proctor 01904 601981

Large and important medieval church, C13 to C15. The central tower dominates the town. A programme of repairs over the years has addressed many issues, but parts of the building are still in poor repair, including the north transept and nave aisles.

Grounds of a villa developed mainly in the 1870s/80s, but modified in the mid-C20 to provide accommodation for the University College of Hull. Grounds partly developed as a botanical garden. Problems with flood damage in 2007 and drainage problems are affecting mature planting and lawns around the lake. Buildings on site are currently unused and development proposals for conversion and additional housing have been submitted to the local planning authority.

Contact: Chris Mayes 0191 269 1226

Gardens laid out in the late C17 wholly or partly by Robert Hooke for the first Lord Burlington, with alterations and additions by the third Lord Burlington in the early to mid-C18. Park with avenues of early C18 date, park has earlier origins. Kitchen garden of 1730-5 with cascades and entrances aligned with parkland avenues. Extensive parkland requiring more detailed study of historic development of the planting design, key avenues and vistas. Structures in walled garden in state of deterioration. The west gates have been repaired and some management of the avenue has been carried out.

Church of 1842 by Pritchett of York, of sandstone with cast-iron windows. Some of the stonework is suffering from extensive erosion, particularly to the tower and the south elevation. The tower roof was also in poor condition. A first phase of work to repair the tower, funded by the National Lottery Heritage Fund Grants for Places of Worship scheme, was completed in 2018. A further phase of work is required to return the parapets to good condition.

| SITE NAME | Nappa Hall, Askrigg, Richmondshire | A fortified manor house built in 1459 for James Metcalf. A wing was added in C17. Most of the medieval portion has not been occupied for some years. The roof of the west tower has leaked and the floor is in a rotten and dangerous state. The roof coverings over the great hall and the south east wing are in poor condition, although the owner has carried out urgent works. Proposals for the repair and reuse of the hall have received Listed Building Consent. |

Grant-aided repairs to the windows, under the National Lottery Heritage Fund Grants for Places of Worship scheme, were completed in 2016. The west wall continues to suffer from severe water penetration - an unsuccessful application to the National Lottery Heritage Fund Grants for Places of Worship was made in 2017. The parish is now considering how it might cover the cost of work through fundraising and applications to grant-giving trusts. |

Stables built in 1690, belonging to Over Hall. Large two storey stone block with stone slate roof. Structural roof members and stone slate coverings were deteriorating, permitting water ingress. The owners discussed conversion to holiday lets with the Local Authority and Historic England in spring 2016. Listed Building Consent was granted in September 2016 for repairs to the roof, rainwater goods, doors and windows, as well as repointing of stonework and internal repairs. Repairs to the external fabric of the building are underway with completion due in August 2019.

House, circa 1670, altered in C18, C19 and C20, which requires extensive repairs, the setting of which has been eroded by the construction of housing to the west. Consent was granted for conversion to a restaurant in 2005, but the scheme failed. Following the dissolution of the company that owned the property, it has become subject to escheat to the Crown. The building has been subject to heritage crime.

Large C17 farmhouse which retains many original features. The existing building probably incorporates elements of an earlier house and was rebuilt for William Wood, an ironmaster at nearby Wortley Forge, and his wife Elizabeth. It is now in need of repair and maintenance to address issues of water ingress and structural movement affecting the historic fabric.

Probably built as a banqueting house or a bath-house, the interior has exceptionally fine plasterwork. It was used as a gun room in the C19. Repairs to the walls and temporary repairs to the roof were completed in 2007, but a further phase of conservation is required to the interior which is in very poor condition. The management of the site has been taken over by the National Trust and it reopened to the public on 8th June 2019. The repair of the Gun Room has been discussed with the Trust.

Mid-C18 stable block, now store and house with attached walls and gate piers. Possibly by James Paine, who designed Hickleton Hall, between 1745 and 1748, for Godfrey Wentworth. The stable block stands to the north of the Hall, which occupies an elevated position towards the north end of the registered site. Repairs had previously been carried out to the roofs but the building fell into disuse and its condition declined. A planning application for conversion to residential units was agreed and the building has now been acquired by a new owner who has commenced a scheme of repair.

One of the largest historic houses in England. Built for the 1st Marquess of Rockingham, the Baroque West Front in 1725-35 and the 606 foot wide Palladian East Front in 1734-50, the latter designed by Henry Flitcroft. The house was further enlarged by John Carr in 1782-84. The north wing is in very bad condition and the rest is deteriorating. The house now belongs to the Wentworth Woodhouse Preservation Trust. The reroofing of the south wing has been funded by a DCMS grant, managed by Historic England. Work has started on the reroofing of the Central Block, also funded by the DCMS.

Huddersfield’s first infirmary was opened in 1831 to designs by architect John Oates. It was built in response to concerns about industrial accidents and funded by public donations. Originally set in landscaped gardens, its grand entrance was modelled on a Greek temple. Through later additions, its accommodation grew from 20 beds to 85 by 1885. It was last in use as a college. The roof is leaking significantly causing damage to the roof structure, walls and interior. The building has been subject to heritage crime. Its re-use forms part of a major mixed use development proposal, Trinity West.

Medieval manor house with C15 Great Hall, solar wing and chapel, also later extensions and alterations. The site was purchased by a charitable trust in 1981 to ensure that it remained in single ownership. Phased repairs have been carried out and part of the site is now in good condition and used as holiday accommodation. The unoccupied buildings are generally in poor condition and the timber-framed solar wing is of particular concern due to ongoing water ingress. A competition was held in 2017 and a design team has been appointed to work up proposals for repair and conversion.
