

A wooden object from Fonaby, Lincs. Carole A Keepax

The object consisted of flat pieces of wood either side of a bronze pin. The wood was of a ring porous type and was thought to be Ash (Fraxinus excelsior L.). One side of the object had well preserved remains of fern fronds adhering.

Carole A Keepax
8/4/80